U. S. GRAND JURY INDICTS S. A. L. AND COAST LINE

Infringement of the Anti-Trust Laws Is Alleged in the Indictment.

SAVANNAH MERCHANTS ARE ALSO INDICTED

After Hearing Testimony for Four Days Federal Grand Jury for Southern District of State of Georgia Returns Indictments Against Corporations and Individuals.

Savannah, Ga., December 2.—After hearing testimony since noon on Monday, the federal grand jury of the United States court for the southern district of Georgia handed down indictments early this afternoon charging an infringement of the anti-trust laws on the part of three large corporations and two individuals. The Atlantic Coast Line railway and Seaboard Air Line railway were each jointly indicted with the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company for specific violations of the Sherman anti-trust and Elkins laws, while Harvie Miller and Morris Miller, grain merchants, and members of the firm of L. F. Miller & Sons, of Philadelphia, were the individuals to feel the wrath of the government. It was anticipated on yesterday that the corporations and Harvie Miller would be presented, the rumors coming from an authoritative source, but no expectation existed in connection with Morris Miller.

The indictments are lengthy documents, covering in one instance seventy-five pages. The others vary in length down to twenty-five pages. In each indictment specific allegations are made of the acts which constitute the alleged infractions of the trust laws.

Dates are given when the defendants are alleged to have made shipments over the lines named at rates less than those on file with the interstate commerce commission. It is alleged that from western points to Philadelphia the Millers secured export rates where the law demanded they should be shipped under domestic rates. This saved them

STRANGE NOISES AFTER MURDER

But Doings in Glover Home Unexplained.

Mrs. Glover Admits She Heard Sounds About the Place, but Denies Any Knowledge of the Presence of the Le Blanc Girl.

Cambridge, Mass., December 2.—A noise was distinctly heard in the home of Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, of Waltham, the night after the one on which her husband, Clarence F. Glover, came to his death by shooting, according to testimony given today in the trial of Hattie Le Blanc, charged with the murder of Glover.

George T. Freeman, of Newton, a friend of Mrs. Glover, who, with his wife, stayed at the Glover home for two or three days after the murder, testified to hearing this noise, but did not investigate it.

This testimony occurred during cross-examination by Melvin M. Johnson, the Le Blanc girl's attorney, but he was either unable to induce Freeman, his wife or Mrs. Glover herself to admit they saw any trace in the house of the presence of Hattie Le Blanc, who was found hiding under a bed in the spare room three days after the shooting.

Mrs. Freeman admitted she had placed some furniture in front of the door of the pare room, but could not explain her motive. Mr. Freeman said he had heard Mrs. Glover apply a vile epithet to her husband.

Late in the day's session Charles McCarthy, who assisted in carrying Glover from the piazza into Dr. Cousens' hospital, says he entered the Glover laundry following the murder and found there a comb, a cap and a pin which were identified later as belonging to Hattie Le Blanc.

RETIRE? NEVER, SAID TILLMAN

Carolina Senator Won't Quit the Game.

Washington, December 2.—"Retire?" exclaimed Senator Tillman repeating an inquiry. "I shall not retire until they bury me; I have no idea of quitting the game."

The South Carolina senator, who arrived here today, was in his committee room at the capitol and appeared to be as vigorous as he was before he was stricken down by severe illness during the last session of congress.

Mr. Tillman expects to remain here four or five days only, however. He will return to his home next week, but counts upon coming back to Washington early in January, when, he says, the real business of the session will begin. He said he felt in good condition for work, but would not apply himself so assiduously as formerly. Mrs. Tillman emphasized the last remark by declaring that she would keep him as quiet as possible.

"Yes," said the senator, "she is running the airship and I guess she will be able to keep it pretty close to earth."

Senator Tillman attributes his restoration to health to the fact that since he got out of bed he has been giving his attention to the building of a big barn on his plantation. He said that the work benefited him by giving him something to think about besides himself.

FIRE WIPES OUT TENNESSEE TOWN

Copper Hill's 1,500 Inhabitants Homeless.

Fire, Which Started Shortly After 8 O'Clock at Night, Spread With Great Rapidity From One End of the Town to the Other.

Knoxville, Tenn., December 2.—Copper Hill, a little town of 1,500 people, located in the famous Ducktown Copper basin, was almost completely wiped out by fire which started shortly after 8 o'clock tonight in the second story of Frank Jones' store, used as a boarding house.

An over-heated stove set fire to the building, and at 10 o'clock the flames had spread so rapidly that the following places had been destroyed: Frank Jones' residence and store, loss $8,000; McCay's hotel, loss $15,000; Ed. Heddon's residence, loss $4,500; Black & Elrod's hardware store, loss of $24,000 on building and stock; Senter & Abernathy's general store, loss $22,000 on building and stock. A telephone message reports at least a dozen other buildings afire. All structures, with one exception, were frame. The Ducktown fire department and the Ducktown, Sulphur, Copper and Iron Company's fire equipment have gone to the scene.

The fire burned itself out by 11 o'clock. In all forty-five frame structures were burned, many of which were small homes valued at a few hundred dollars each. The river front was swept clean by the flames. The total loss will be in excess of $80,000, with insurance of $15,000.

EAST ATLANTA WANTS RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

And Councilman Minor Is Working Hard in an Effort to Get It.

East Atlanta will have a rural delivery service if the efforts of Councilman E. A. Minor, of the ninth ward, prove successful. At the request of a number of East Atlantans, Councilman Minor has taken the matter up with Postofice Inspector Ciscle, who is in charge of the expansion of the rural delivery service.

Mr. Minor will endeavor to have the routes established on the following streets: Moreland avenue, from Flat Shoals road to Glennwood avenue; Glennwood avenue, from Moreland avenue to Flat Shoals road; Haaf avenue, from Glennwood to Metropolitan avenues, and Flat Shoals, from May avenue to city limits.

Mr. Minor contends that these streets have more residents than other sections enjoying the mail service, and that East Atlanta's progressive ness is shown by the fact of her having already organized a bank.

WENDLING WALKS THROUGH STREETS

From Court Room to Scene of Girl's Death.

Defense Closes Its Case Soon After the Trip to Scene of the Crime---Four Hours Will Be Consumed in Addresses to the Jury.

Louisville, Ky., December 2.—Followed by a curious crowd of several hundred persons, Joseph Wendling, charged with the murder of Alma Kellner, this afternoon was marched through the streets with the jury and trial judge from the court house to St. John's church, the scene of the alleged crime. So many persons trying to gain a view of him, made the prisoner very nervous and he seemed relieved when back in the court room. Although the crowd manifested no inclination to be unruly, police reserves were called to the church when the crowd rapidly increased in size.

It is almost a mile from the court house to the church. When the trip was started, Judge Gregory turned to the people and asked them not to follow.

News spread that the procession was coming and several blocks near the church were lined with persons eager to catch a view of the prisoner. Court officials accompanied the jury and prisoner through the church, where the prosecution contends Alma Kellner was killed and then to the parochial school, beneath which the remains contended to be the body of the child were found. Wendling appeared perfectly calm throughout the trip.

The defense closed its case soon after the trial was resumed after the trip to the scene and court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when arguments will be made. Four hours will be consumed in the addresses to the jury, two attorneys speaking for each side.

Three Years for Simms.

Washington, December 2.—John G. Simms, formerly agent for the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, was today sentenced to three years in the penitentiary after pleading guilty to the charge of embezzling from the company more than $3,000. Efforts made by friends of Simms to obtain a parole for him were unavailing. Ignorant of the fact that these had failed, Simms faced Chief Justice Slabaugh today confident that clemency would be granted him, and collapsed when sentenced.

EDWARD BUCHANAN DESPERATELY ILL

Former Member of Big New York Firm Taken to Grady Hospital.

Edward F. Buchanan, former member of A. O. About one year ago, Mr. Brown had a stroke of apoplexy in San Francisco, and was taken to Chicago for treatment, where he remained for several months before he recovered.

Mr. Buchanan comes from Norcross, Ga., and is now living in that town. He is well known in Atlanta not only through his connection with the A. O. Brown Company, but also through the years he spent in Georgia before he

TWELVE-FINGERED ALIBI GIVES NEGRO FREEDOM

Three fingers, frequently imbibed from the regulation glass, are apt to befuddle the brains of the bibulous, but the effect is nothing compared to that produced on the superior criminal court yesterday morning when twelve fingers, and then twelve more fingers, were placed before the bar of justice.

In this case the glasses were not at hand; but as soon as the twenty-four fingers made their appearance the new solicitor, Hugh M. Dorsey, and some of the jurymen, almost called for glasses, even in the court—eyeglasses, however.

For the first twelve fingers adorned the hands of a negro named Charles Tanner, charged with larceny, his six fingers on each hand well equipping him for membership among the "light-fingered gentry."

Because of his freakish "numerosity" of fingers, he stood about as much chance of acquittal as a tallow dog would have to catch an asbestos cat in Hades; and the prosecution thought the case a cinch.

Tanner was accused of stealing a suit of clothes, which he had pawned. The pawnbroker had identified him absolutely—"because the negro had six fingers on each hand."

"We close," said the prosecution.

"We do not," said Carl Guess and Roy Dorsey, the latter being Solicitor Dorsey's younger brother.

"Call Jonas Tanner."

The witness entered.

"Hold up your hands," commanded the attorney for the defense, and Jonas, cousin to Charlie Tanner, held up both hands, displaying to the amazed court twelve fingers, six on each hand.

As the case for the prosecution had rested mainly on the identification of Charles Tanner because he "had six fingers on each hand," the jury were obliged to acquit him in the face of another twelve-fingered negro.

FREIGHT RATES ON W. & A. ROAD UP TO GOVERNOR

Commission Decides Lessee Is Not Complying With Terms of Lease.

STATE HAS THE POWER TO TAKE OVER THE ROAD

If N., C. & St. L. Does Not See Fit to Abide by Terms---Lease Provides That Shipments of Freight From Georgia Points to Chattanooga Should Be Same as Local Rates.

Unless the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, lessee of the Western and Atlantic railroad, which is the property of the state, sees fit to abide by the terms of its lease in the matter of freight rates from Atlanta to Chattanooga it may become necessary for the governor to declare the lease void and take over the road.

After thorough investigation the railroad commission Friday morning reached the decision that the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad Company is not complying with the terms of its lease in this important particular and will immediately certify the case to Governor Brown for whatever action he may deem advisable.

Freight Rate Provision.

When the state road was leased to the N., C. & St. L. company there was a provision made in the lease contract that the rates on through shipments of freight or freight shipped from points in this state to Chattanooga should be the same as the rates on local shipments or on shipments made between points in Georgia on that line.

Some time ago it was discovered that the company has applied the southern classification rates to shipments from points in Georgia to Chattanooga and that in numerous instances these rates are higher than the local rates which are fixed by the Georgia railroad commission.

The facts in the case were presented to the commission by the Atlanta Freight Bureau and an investigation was made.

At the hearing of the case the railroad company declared that it is not bound by the provision of the lease regarding the rates on through shipments, because the state has no jurisdiction over interstate shipments and cannot specify any particular rates for such shipments, that matter be-

ADVERTISING TALKS.
WRITTEN BY
WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

I was in my old home town, Philadelphia, the other day and I met MR. FRANK EMBICK, a member of the firm of W. H. Embick & Sons, whose business has been developed to a MARVELOUS DEGREE THROUGH NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

Seven years ago the Embicks were doing a men's tailoring business only, and that business had prospered. They owned a store on Chestnut street which they had not rented.

There were many Embicks in the family. It was decided to start a new business, so they rented their own store and started a children's apparel shop.

The young men did not know very much about children's clothing, but they had faith in their ability to learn about it. At any rate, they went into it with enthusiasm and a DETERMINATION TO SUCCEED.

They knew that the FIRST AID TO BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT is letting the public know, THROUGH ADVERTISING, of the location of the business, the kind of merchandise sold, whether it is of RELIABLE QUALITY or not, and making known from one to three cents upon every hundred pound of grain shipped.

U. S. GRAND JURY INDICTS ROADS

The Miller brothers put themselves in the jurisdiction of the United States court for the southern district of Georgia through their shipments into this district over the lines of the three corporations indicted.

Akerman Signs Indictments.

Each indictment is signed by Alexander A. Akerman, assistant district attorney for the southern district of Georgia, and by John F. Price, foreman of the grand jury. Immediately after the indictments were presented, Judge Emory Speer thanked the grand jury for its prompt and effective work, and commented upon the example of patriotism it had set through the service rendered.

The beginning of the investigation against the defendants arose from complaints registered with the interstate commerce commission during the summer to the effect that the Miller firm had effectively destroyed competition in grain shipments over an enormous territory, embracing points along the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, and in the south Atlantic states. Proceedings were held before Commissioner Clements, in Philadelphia, during July, and the revelations were sufficient to start the powerful machinery of the government against not only the Miller firm, but also the intermediaries. The first connection of the railroads and the Millers arose during the hearing before Commissioner Clements, in which it developed that the Pennsylvania system had sold its Philadelphia elevator to the Keystone Elevator Company. L. F. Miller & Son controlled this latter company, and were responsible for shipments made to the south over both the railroads indicted and upon vessels of the steamship company at rates much less than those on file with the commission. In addition to this infraction of the law, it was found that grain shipped from western to eastern points enjoyer the export rates instead of domestic, and a saving of from one to three cents on each hundred pounds was effected by the Philadelphia firm.

The Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company was indicted three times—once as a sole offender and twice in connection with the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line railways. Morris F. Miller and Harvie C. Miller, of Philadelphia, were immediately arrested and placed under bonds of $25,000 each.

24 Counts Returned.

Washington, December 2.—In a formal announcement by the interstate commerce commission today it was stated that twenty-four counts were returned against the Merchants' and Miners' Trnsportation Company, fourteen counts against the Seaboard Air Line railway, seven counts against the Atlantic Coast Line and ten counts against the Miller Brothers.

The offenses covered by the indictments consisted, it is alleged, in the carriage of grain from Philadelphia to Jacksonville by the transportation companies at a rate of 10 cents a hundred pounds, when the rate filed with the commission was 15 cents a hundred.

Harvey Miller offered himself to the United States district attorney at Savannah as a witness in the case, but the offer was declined, as the official did not want thereby to grant him immunity from prosecution. Today Miller's bond was fixed by Judge Speer at $50,000.

No Rebating, Says Whitney.

Baltimore, Md., December 2.—When asked about the federal indictments at Savannah against his company and the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line, the president of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company, J. C. Whitney, said:

"All we know about the matter is that our company, along with others, carried freight out of Philadelphia at a published tariff. There was no rebating and the charge to the contrary is absolutely unfounded."

HOW JEROME JONES GOT CONVENTION

He Returns From St. Louis After Landing Big Federation Meeting.

Jerome Jones, editor of The Journal of Labor and one of the foremost labor leaders in the south, has just returned to Atlanta from the convention of the Federation of Labor recently held in St. Louis, where he succeeded, in spite of much opposition from other cities, in securing the next convention of the federation for Atlanta.

In his office Friday Mr. Jones was kept busy receiving friends who had come to congratulate him on his success.

Mr. Jones says that the granting of the next convention to Atlanta was due to the prestige this city enjoys as a meeting place and to the high regard in which local labor men are held by the national and international federation. Local labor men, however, attribute it largely to Mr. Jones' indefatigable efforts during the entire two weeks of the convention, to the national repute which he enjoys and to the able assistance rendered him by L. P. Marquart, his fellow delegate.

"Atlanta won," said Mr. Jones, "as she always does, because she has the reputation of being one of the leading convention cities in the world. Even the delegates from Great Britain said that he had heard of the reputation of Atlanta and hoped that the convention would be given to her. M. J. Ryan, representing the Carmen, stated that in his twenty-three years of experience the pleasantest convention he had ever attended had been held in Atlanta. J. B. Leonard, member of the executive council, indorsed this city by saying that no other place could take better care of a convention.

"In spite of these indorsements," said Mr. Jones, "it is hard for an outsider to realize the enormous proposition we were up against. The convention was made up of delegates almost entirely from the north, east and west, delegates who controlled a vast majority of the votes. Rochester, N. Y., which was making the hardest fight, sent the secretary of state with five helpers and a deputation from the chamber of commerce.

"The convention, which will be held for two weeks, beginning the second week in November, 1911, will probably be the largest numerically that has yet been held. There will be over 500 bona fide delegates in addition to the large crowd which will accompany them.

Gompers and Mitchell will be held if possible.

"Local labor men will be interested to learn that the differences between the United Mine Workers and the Western Federation of Miners will probably be settled within the next two weeks and the western miners will be represented in the next convention."

ARTILLERY PRACTICE WITH SEARCHLIGHTS

Charleston, S. C., December 2.—An unusual feature of target practice with full service charges at Fort Moultrie, which started today, will be the night work of the artillery gunners, several searchlights being used to light the targets and towboats, and also to protect passing vessels. It is expected that the night practice will furnish a fine spectacle. Brigadier General Mills is here to watch the effect of the firing. All the heavy guns will be used during the practice.

ATLANTA COTTON PICKER MAY SOLVE GREAT PROBLEM

A cotton picker that will really do the work and do it well—

For many years this has been the dream of inventors by the thousand, and for just the same number of years, so far as anyone knows, nothing but failure has come to all the attempts to perfect a cotton picker. Many failed to get the fleecy staple, a few got it, but so slowly that they were impracticable while in all something to prevent their being a success was found.

However, an Atlantan has now come forward with a device which, to all appearances, has overcome the difficulties many have so long believed insurmountable. E. H. Schofield is the man, and he has just completed a machine which he has demonstrated to a number of people will pick cotton from almost any sort of a boll, pick it rapidly and free it of the most of the trash.

The Schofield cotton picker as it is called uses suction to get the cotton from the boll. A fan driven by a gasoline engine furnishes the power not only to drive the fan but to propel the farm wagon on which the picker is to be mounted.

One man and six boys are required to operate the machine. The man has control of the picker, while the boys use the "picking nozzles" through which the cotton is sucked into the body of the picker. The "picking nozzle" is practically two inches in diameter and is fitted with short teeth which project inward from the mouth of the nozzle. These teeth are used to gather the few locks which stick so tightly to the bolls that the suction will not pull them off.

This nozzle is some 18 inches in length and is connected with the body of the machine by a flexible metal tube. The nozzle is connected to this tube by what is known as an "universal joint," giving the nozzle the utmost freedom of motion in every direction. This makes it possible for the person operating the nozzle to come into easy reach of a boll located at any part of the stalk.

Mr. Schofield and his friends believe that with this machine it will be an easy matter to pick cotton for much less than one-half the average price at present. It is believed that the cost of gathering the staple with this device will not exceed 20 cents per hundred pounds, as against 50 cents and even more by hand.

For putting the cotton picker on the market Mr. Schofield has organized a company, known as the Schofield Cotton Picker Company. A charter has been granted this company, as have been patent letters thoroughly covering the essential features of his invention.

At this time the company is planning to build a complete cotton picker which will be sent to eastern Texas early in June. Here exhaustive tests of the machine will be made, and if these tests bear out what those made here indicate, the machine will be placed upon the market at once.

The company, of which Mr. Schofield has been made president, has headquarters at room No. 518, in the Grand Opera House building.

PRODUCE BOOKS OF JOCKEY CLUB

tive investigating committee today and showed that in 1906, 1907, 1908 the club expended $320,000 for legal expenses, advertising and a press bureau. This total was shown by entries from three accounts, numbered 1, 2 and 3.

According to the entries the heaviest expenditures were in 1907, the year preceding the passage of the anti-betting bills. In that year, by the entries, the legal expenses of the Jockey Club were $175,620. The year previous they were $92,642 and in 1908, the year in which the Hughes legislation finally prevailed by one vote, they were $52,500 paid out of a special fund.

Belmont in Charge of Funds.

Frank K. Sturgis, treasurer of the Jockey Club, testified that all these disbursements were at the personal direction of August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, and that $42,290 of the special fund was paid to E. P. Coyne, a lawyer recommended to the club by James W. Wadsworth, Jr., speaker of the assembly.

The books of the Metropolitan Turf Association composed of makers of books on the races were not produced, as had been directed, because John J. Evans, treasurer of the association, said that none were kept. He admitted in his testimony, however, that the association still has invested a fund of $120,000.

Sturgis was asked to explain the nature of the three accounts, numbered 1, 2 and 3. He replied that No. 1 represented the moneys spent by the Jockey Club in its own interests; that No. 2 contained expenditures made in behalf of other racing associations contributing to the Jockey Club, and that No. 3 was for joint expenditures.

"In 1908 did the Jockey Club pay legal expenses for the various racing associations?" M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel for the committee, asked Sturgis.

Special $40,000 Fund.

"Yes, it raised $40,000 for that purpose."

"What became of the special fund of $40,000?"

"It was expended for advertising and in maintaining a press bureau."

"Who expended it?"

"Mr. August Belmont."

"To whom did you draw the checks?"

"To Mr. August Belmont."

"At whose instance?"

"At Mr. August Belmont's."

"You have the checks."

"Yes, and I have a statement from Mr. Belmont of how he expended that money."

"But you have no personal knowledge of how he expended it?"

"No."

On July 1, 1907, a check was made dated January 13, 1908.

What was this for?"

"Legal expenses."

Other payments to Coyne were read from the book and the witness said he made them "at Mr. August Belmont's instruction," and knew only that they were for legal expenses. Receipted bills were then produced showing that Coyne was paid $42,290 in 1907 and 1908 "for appearing before legislative committees, opposing adverse legislation, consultations with the various legislators and members of the Jockey Club."

Speaker of Assembly Coyne's Friend.

One bill was for $5,000 and was dated January 13, 1908.

"Would that indicate that he acted for all the racing associations?" asked Mr. Bruce.

"I don't know."

"Of your own knowledge, you can't tell what services Mr. Coyne did for this $42,290?"

"No; I only know that Mr. Coyne was recommended by Mr. Wadsworth."

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., was speaker of the assembly at the last session of the legislature and during the fight against the racing bills. He was at the hearing on Wednesday when August Belmont said the testimony previously heard before the committee that rich members of the Jockey Club raised a fund of $500,000 was absurd.

DOES NOT THINK PEARY REACHED POLE, EITHER

Charleston, December 2.—Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the noted Labrador missionary, who left today for Boston, does not believe Dr. Cook got near the North Pole, and thinks it probable Peary approached the exact location only approximately, according to an interview today. Dr. Grenfell's field is the bleak coast of Labrador, where he assists the poverty-stricken natives as missionary and as surgeon. His duties are fraught with dangers, but he declares he likes the work.

LEAGUE TO URGE PRISON REFORM

ens, Marion Jackson and Alfred C. Newell.

Trustees—George Muse, Rev. John I. Armstrong, E. M. Underwood, J. K. Orr, E. E. Pomeroy, L. C. Hopkins, G. R. Hutchens, John J. Eagan, R. F. Shedden, Walter McElreath, B. Wildeaur, T. K. Glenn, Marion Jackson, H. A. Alexander, W. B. Disbro, Charles McKinney, A. C. Newell, W. S. Witham, Philip Weltner, W. D. Thompson and Joseph C. Logan.

What the League Will Do.

Under the constitution adopted the league is organized "to indorse and discover, promulgate and secure the adoption and enforcement of methods of treating offenders against the criminal laws, which will protect society from crime and promote the welfare of offenders and their families and to aid paroled and discharged prisoners to become useful, law-abiding citizens."

So much for the formal organization of the league. As to the work which it proposes to carry out in the state, it may be stated from addresses made at the meeting that Georgia now has an organization which will assist the courts of justice in administering the laws upon a just and at the same time merciful code, and will not only see that criminals are punished for the protection of society, but will seek to make those who are unfortunate to fall good and useful citizens after they have been punished.

The main address of the meeting was made by Hon. G. R. Hutchens, a former member of the state prison commission.

Prison Commission in Sympathy.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was a statement by General Clement A. Evans, in which he declared that all three of the members of the prison commission were in hearty sympathy with the objects of the league, and would lend any aid within their power to carry out the wishes of the organization.

The meeting was called to order by John J. Eagan, who briefly stated that the call for the meeting had been issued for the purpose of crystallizing the sentiment in Georgia for a united effort to reclaim as far as possible the men who often were made criminals from environment, and to save to the state and the country men who could be made useful citizens, but who were often made worse by confinement and punishment. He called upon Mr. Hutchens to address those present.

Remarks by Mr. Hutchens.

Mr. Hutchens stated that he, when a member of the prison commission, had taken a deep interest in the fate of unfortunate criminals. He said:

"The prison commission often discussed the effort that was being made to establish a state-wide reformatory for the purpose of saving society from criminals by taking care of the boys who had been led astray. He offered the following suggestions:

"First, let us make the criminal feel the power of the law to make him think. Many men are led into crime because they have never been made to think. Second, let us hold out hope to those who think that society has turned against them, and make them know that there is still hope although they have fallen. We must treat our fallen citizens as brothers."

Mr. Hutchens said the state laws were sadly deficient in reformatory features. He urged the establishing of reformatories all over the state, and said the present small farm at Milledgeville was inadequate.

Mr. Hutchens touched upon the administering of the criminal laws in Georgia, and said there was a lack of uniformity caused by local public sentiment, and that crime was not punished equally all over the state. Harmony, he urged, was wanting.

Must Take Care of Women.

He also urged the creation of a system in the state of taking care of the unfortunate women who were sent to prison.

"We must mete out justice to all criminals," he said in conclusion, "but that justice must be tempered with mercy."

General Evans said that the position taken by Mr. Hutchens was right, and the prison commission would act in accord and sympathy with the league.

C. D. McKinney told about prison reforms in other states, and said that Georgia was sadly lacking in a law which would tend to help the criminals, while at the same time punishing them.

Linton Hopkins offered a resolution for the adoption of a constitution, the main points of which have been given.

Membership of League.

Under the constitution, the membership shall consist of annual members, who pay between $5 and $25 a year, and sustaining members, who pay more than $25 a year. Each member shall have one vote. The officers shall consist of a president, a vice president, a treasurer, a board of trustees, an executive committee and a general secretary. All officers are to be elected annually by the trustees. The secretary is to be chosen by the executive committee.

Immediately after the adjournment of the meeting, the trustees met and elected officers. Then the executive committee met and adjourned to meet again next Monday afternoon, when a secretary will be elected.

The league will meet again on the call of the president, not later than February 15, 1911.

After the adjournment, President Eagan said:

"Our league has been organized under the most favorable auspices. I believe we have launched in the state an organization which will do much to help society, and at the same time lend assistance to the unfortunates who have violated the laws of the state. Our league, I feel certain, will grow in numbers and power, and will soon be in shape to do much for those who have sinned and who need help which they can get from no other source and in no other way."

the methods employed to gain the CONFIDENCE of the people.

It was a small business at the start, naturally, so the amount spent in advertising the first year was small, too—but it was REGULAR, PERSISTENT PUBLICITY, occupying a space of sixty lines single column in the EVENING BULLETIN.

The next newspaper taken on was the NORTH AMERICAN, the firm using larger space. THE BUSINESS BEGAN TO FEEL THE IMPETUS OF THE ADVERTISING.

Then the firm did a remarkable thing. It took on an adjoining store—assumed cheerfully a larger burden before the first had been disposed of—and started a women's and misses' tailoring business.

Now, what course was adopted to make both stores pay? THE FIRM DECIDED TO DOUBLE ITS ADVERTISING and another newspaper, THE RECORD, was added to the list.

The North American and The Record now share equally the advertising appropriation, which is in excess of Twenty Thousand Dollars.

The business, in seven years, has become a great success, with the percentage spent in advertising DECREASING each year and the volume of business growing—demonstrating also that advertising is an infinitesimal part of selling expense—demonstrating also that ADVERTISING DECREASES the WHOLE GENERAL SELLING EXPENSE of a business.

Mr. Embick told me that his total selling expense—the cost of doing business, INCLUDING ADVERTISING—is very much less than it was five years ago, and that this year it is less than it was a year ago.

This is sure enough an ADVERTISING LESSON which any firm, not now advertising, can take to heart—that should arouse a desire to make its business grow—that should inspire it with courage to start.

HURT IN BUGGY SMASH, MISS POWELL IS DEAD

Pretty Manicurist Succumbs to Injuries Received Thursday Night.

Without ever regaining consciousness, Miss Mary Powell, aged 19 years, hurt on Springdale drive Thursday night, when thrown from a surrey with three relatives, died at the Grady hospital yesterday morning at 3.40 o'clock.

Miss Powell was a beautiful young girl and for the past year had been employed as a manicurist at the Candler building parlors. She lived at the home of her uncle, W. C. Jones, on Stillwell avenue, or the old Wallace Mill road.

Mr. Jones was driving at the time of the accident, and besides himself and Miss Powell, the surrey contained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, her uncle and aunt, who are on a visit from Fernandino, Fla. Owing to the dark, Mr. Jones was unable to see ahead and the horse, which was blind, ran out of the road and one of the wheels hit a tree.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Harry G. Poole. George M. Jones, of 385 St. Charles avenue, and James Jones, of 395 Atlanta avenue, are uncles of Miss Powell.

The funeral will occur this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence, on Wallace Mill road. Interment will be in West View.

1,500 CHILDREN OUT OF SCHOOL

Five Buildings Closed by Cold Spell.

Schools Are Not Properly Heated by New Automatic Blast Furnace Heating Device---A Conference Finds It Hard to Decide Who Is to Blame.

Five of the public schools of the city were closed yesterday morning and some 1,500 school children sent home because the buildings were not properly heated by the new automatic blast furnace heating device that has recently been installed.

The matter reached such a serious stage that Mayor Maddox called a meeting Friday morning at his office with President Eugene M. Mitchell, of the board of education, and Chairman F. A. Quillian, of the bond commission, for the purpose of holding a conference with the contractors who have been installing the heating plants.

The schools closed were Bell street, Fraser street, Calhoun street, Ira street and Williams street.

It was difficult to ascertain at the conference exactly who was to blame. From the discussions the responsibility might have been placed upon either the contractors, Martin J. Lide, the city's heating engineer; the National Heat Regulating Company, the negro janitors or the cranky school teachers who insisted upon keeping the windows open.

Contractors Surprised.

It was stated for the M. C. Vandiver Company, which is installing the plant in the Fraser street school, that everything so far as they knew, was working satisfactorily and they had not been notified of the schools being closed or of there being any trouble. Mr. Vandiver stated that he heard a complaint on Thursday about the principal's room being too cold, and the trouble was the radiator had not been opened. He promised to look after this school immediately.

The representatives of the Atlanta Steam Heating Company, which is installing the plant in the Bell Street school, stated that the only trouble they had found was that the negro janitor had let a fuse blow out. They promised to look after this school.

The Moncrief Furnace Company is installing the heating plants in both the Calhoun, the Ira and the Williams street schools. Mr. Moncrief stated that all three plants had been in operation from two to three weeks, and the trouble was that the furnace would not furnish the requisite amount of heat. He said that not more than 58 degrees could be registered in the school rooms, and this when the furnaces were in full blast and the temperature outside only 35 degrees. He believed, however, when the inclosures were made more air-tight and less cold air used there would be an improvement. He claimed that the plants could not be finished until Mr. Lide had made an inspection.

"Mr. Lide, Come Home."

The mayor stated that Mr. Lide had gone to Birmingham and had been wired to return to Atlanta at once. The contractors claimed that Mr. Lide was to blame for some of the work being retarded.

S. P. Moncrief, of the Moncrief Furnace Company, said that some of the teachers were to blame for the furnaces not doing the work because they insisted upon keeping windows open for ventilation, when one of the features of the heating plant was to furnish ventilation with heat. Open windows, he said, interfered with the workings of the plant. He said he believed a teacher ought to be fired who would not keep the windows shut.

Mayor Maddox said that the matter had become grave and serious. Not only were nearly two thousand children out of schools, but some of them were being made ill because of the cold school rooms, and the parents were laying the blame on the city officials. He said it was not a matter of dollars and cents and something had to be done and done at once to relieve the situation.

Promises Made All Round.

The contractors all promised to do everything in their power to warm the schools; President Mitchell, of the board of education, promised to have the teachers lectured on open windows; the mayor promised to get Engineer Lide onto his job; the automatic man promised to get the regulators in shape, and Superintendent Slaton promised to talk to the negro janitors. So it is probable that the whole matter will be in much better shape next week.

At Friday's conference it was very evident that this was one public matter about which there should be hot air, and no hot air.

It is an old saying that it is an ill wind that blows no good. In this particular instance the good that was blown was some holidays that have been very much enjoyed by some two thousand children who were kept warm at home.

HANEY RETIRES ON PENSION; FIRE-FIGHTERS PROMOTED

First Assistant Chief H. P. Haney, of the Atlanta fire department, was retired from the service on a pension yesterday morning after giving up nearly thirty years of his life in the dangerous but noble calling.

Courtney was made second assistant with No. 2 engine house as headquarters, and William Butler captain of hook and ladder company No. 1, was promoted to the position of third assistant chief.

Chief Haney had been with the department for the past twenty-eight years and was well beloved by his associates. He is well known in the city, and has a wide circle of friends. He leaves the department with a splendid record for bravery.

QUICKER SERVICE PROMISED BY NEW W. U. SUPERINTENDENT

Quicker service, better plants and general improvements throughout the southern territory of the Western Union Telegraph Company is the future outlook for the southern division, according to statements made yesterday by H. C. Worthen, ne wsuperintendent of this division, successor to the late B. F. Dillon, who arrived in the city Friday morning, assuming his duties immediately.

"We are going to give a better service in every particular," Mr. Worthen said.

"The new policy of the Western Union is very liberal, and we expect to come across with the improvements. In return we expect, of course, to receive increased revenue, but our patrons will get 'value received.'"

The cotton service in particular is going to be much better, Mr. Worthen says. While no discrimination is going to be made along this line, the cotton reports and relevant messages, especially spot cotton reports, are to be handled with far more dispatch than formerly.

There will be no change in the officials under him, said Mr. Worthen.

PRESENCE OF JUROR J. M. FIGGS NULLIFIES JURY'S ENTIRE WORK

Athens, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) An unusual and embarrassing situation has been brought about in the neighboring county of Greene by reason of the fact that an innocent citizen served on the grand jury which transacted a great deal of business and it was afterward learned that this juror's name does not appear in the jury box as prepared by the jury revisors' commission of that county.

When Solicitor General Davison prepared to actively begin a number of prosecutions it was discovered that about sixty true bills were legally null and void. When the grand jury was being organized at the last term of court there were a number excused or cause and several additional men were picked up in the court room to fill out the twenty-three. Among this supplementary number was J. M. Figgs. His name does not appear in the jury box list. There were sixty special indictments made by the jury of which Mr. Figgs was a member.

An attorney for the defendant in one of the min cases made the discovery, cited the court to the fact and secured the ruling of Judge Sibley that turned loose the other three-score defendants on the same technicality. It remains to be seen if the following grand jur will re-indict these parties.

The committee adopted a resolution recommending the council finance committee to provide the money for the work.

DR. JENKINS PREACHES AT UNION TABERNACLE

Rev. F. E. Jenkins, D.D., general superintendent of the Congregational church of the southern states, will preach at Union Tabernacle, corner of McDaniel and Hightower streets, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

The occasion is the inauguration of certain instituitonal, educational and social features of church work supplementary to the evangelistic work which has been so successfully prosecuted by this church in the past.

Dr. Jenkins will speak at both services on "Practical or Applied Christianity." The pastor or the Union Tabernacle, Rev. J. Robert Jordan, will have charge of the new forward movement of the church as well as the ordinary ministerial and pastoral work. A night school will be organized for the benefit of the young people. There will also be a medical clinic. A manual training school for the boys will be one feature of the work. At this school the boys will be taught carpentry, blacksmithing, plumbing and other industrial arts by competent teachers. There will also be classes in domestic science for the girls, in which they will be taught scientific cooking and other domestic arts.

West Point, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—The annual stockholders' meetings of the Lanett Cotton Mills, the Shawmut Mill, the West Point Manufacturing Company, the Riverdale Cotton Mills, the Lanett Bleachery and Dye Works and the Chattahoochee Railway Company were held in the vice president's office, George H. Lanier, this afternoon, and the report for the year's business was very satisfactory.

The consumption of cotton seems to be growing annually, which now amounts to 75,000 bales.

The population of the four cotton mills has nearly reached the 15,000 mark.

The old board of directors was re-elected, and the following officers were elected: W. A. Bullard, of Boston, Mass., president of the West Point Manufacturing Company, Shawmut Mills and Riverdale Cotton Mills; George H. Lanier, vice president and general manager, and Horace S. ROUGH PAVING PLANNED ON WASHINGTON VIADUCT

Gravel Will Be Poured Over the Blocks and Then Crushed In.

The street committee of council yesterday afternoon decided to accept a suggestion from Commissioner of Public Works Collier to put the paving of the Washington street viaduct in a condition which will prevent the slipping of teams. Mr. Collier's suggestion was to cover the blocks with gravel and then crush it into the blocks with a steam roller, thereby securing a rough paving.

This will be an experiment, and if it is successful it may be tried on other smooth and slippery pavements in the city.

Several citizens appeared before the street committee and urged that something be done to improve the pavement on the viaduct.

The grand total for twenty-six of these states is 60,436,759, which is a gain of between 21 and 22 per cent over the population in the same states in 1900. At this rate of increase the total population of the country should be about 91,000,000.

The most striking development of the census as so far shown is the relative growth of cities and industrial centers as compared with the farming regions. The eastern states have more than held their own, while the states of the middle west have fallen off.

DENOMINATIONAL COLLEGE GOING

Says Epworth League Official in Addressing Conference.

Fitzgerald, Ga., December 2.—That within ten years there would be little use for the denominational seminaries and colleges scattered through the states, as their places would be filled by the modern high schools, and that only the higher institutions of learning would be kept up by the churches, was the statement made today by Dean Walter Agnew, of the Chattanooga university, as he spoke before the Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here. This was the feature of the second day's session.

Dr. Edwin M. Randall, of Chicago, general secretary of the Epworth League, talked of plans to interest children in church work. Bishop Anderson lectured this evening.

MEMPHIS BANK ROBBED OF SMALL SUM OF MONEY

Memphis, Tenn., December 2.—Following a meeting of the board of directors of the Suburban Bank and Trust Company, of Memphis, announcement was made late this afternoon that the bank was robbed of $2,700 on Tuesday night.

According to the statement of bank officials, access to the building and to the strong box was secured by the use of keys and a familiarity with the vault combination. The bank is a minor institution.

TWO COMPANIES PLAN LONG HIKE

Challenge of Co. C for Walk to Marietta Accepted by Co. L.

Declaring that they have every other bunch of "hikers" backed entirely off the map, the members of company C of the Fifth regiment, of this city, has hurled into the teeth of the other local companies a defi to try conclusions with them in the marching game. The challenge specifies that a squad is to be selected and the "hike" is to be between Marietta and Atlanta. The C company men declare that they can walk the legs off any other set of men in the city in the 20 miles.

The before-mentioned defi hadn't had hardly time to get cold, though, before the members of L company hopped up and vowed that among them is to be found the squad that has a dozen Westons rolled in one faded to a fare-yer-well. They have also alleged that if their bunch don't beat the C company squad in from Marietta every man in the company will eat fried poncho for the next month steady.

In view of all of which (and then some more besides) there's going to be some tall hiking done by two squads representing these companies in the near future. It is possible that other companies will be represented also, but certain it is these two will muster their hardiest squads for the march.

No date for the contest has been set, but it will probably take place in the near future. According to the terms of the challenge, the men will march in heavy marching order, which puts a 50-pound load on each. Six hours for the 20 miles will be most excellent time.

Weak Over-worked Women

Who are broken down and made invalids by the drudgery of never ending household cares and duties, or by over-frequent bearing and nursing of childern, and many other cares, burdens and strains which the weaker sex have to bear, are deserving of profound sympathy. But while sympathy is commendable what these unfortunate women most need is a good, honest, square-deal Restorative Tonic and Strength-giving Nervine and Regulator—one compounded and carefully adapted to act in harmony with woman's peculiar, delicate, ever sensitive organization.

Who so well fitted to select, carefully proportion the ingredients and compound a remedy for the cure of these distressing and often pain-wracking weaknesses and derangements, as the carefully and thoroughly educated and regularly graduated physician who has had a long and successful experience in treating just this class of cases.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

THIS MEDICINE IS

THE ONE REMEDY Now, and for over 40 years, sold by druggists for Woman's Peculiar Weaknesses, and Distressing Ailments, gotten up by one having all of the above qualifications.*

THE ONE REMEDY which absolutely contains neither alcohol (which to most Women is rank poison) nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.*

THE ONE REMEDY which is so perfect in its composition and so good in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient, as they do, on its outside wrapper, verifying the same under solemn oath.*

In all the above most important particulars, the "Favorite Prescription" stands absolutely alone—in a class all by itself—as woman's most reliable and trust-worthy remedy in time of sickness and distress. It is a pure glyceric extract made from American curative roots, found by long time experience most valuable in curing woman's weaknesses and derangements. The leaders in all schools of medical practice have endorsed each of its ingredients as of the best known remedies for the complicated affections for which it is recommended. These professional endorsements should count for far more than any number of lay testimonials. A booklet full of them sent free on receipt of name and address.

THE MEN AND WOMEN

Who Enjoy the Choicest Products of the World's Commerce.

Knowledge of What is Best More Important Than Wealth Without It.

It must be apparent to every one that qualities of the highest order are necessary to enable the best of the products of modern commerce to attain to universal acceptance. However loudly heralded, they may not hope for world-wide pre-eminence unless they meet with the general approval, not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and enjoying the choicest products. Their commendation, consequently, becomes important to others, since to meet the requirements of the well informed of all countries the method of manufacture must be of the most perfect order and the combination the most excellent of its kind. After thirty years of general usage, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is everywhere accepted as the best of family laxatives. Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the laxative and carminative principles of plants known to act most beneficially on the system, but also to the method of manufacture of the California Fig Syrup Co., which ensures that uniformity and purity essential in a remedy intended for family use. It cleanses and sweetens the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects. To get the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, buy the genuine only; the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package. Price, 50 cents per bottle.

A CASE OF MISDIRECTED ENERGY.

Macon is agog over the idea of capturing the state capitol. Its chamber of commerce, actively supported by The Telegraph and The News, has met the suggestion of the removal of Mercer university to Atlanta by the proposition that Macon will take the state capitol, lock, stock and barrel.

The Macon newspapers are devoting several columns a day to the dream, and The Telegraph has opened a subscription list for a "capitol removal" fund with which it is proposed to build a million dollar capitol building in Macon—after Atlanta has been duly swatted.

The inference is that until the Baptists of the state say definitely what they propose to do about the location of Mercer university, Macon intends to keep hammering on the question of "capitol removal" by way of penalizing Atlanta for having committed the offense of being suggested by the State Baptist Convention as the possible home of Mercer.

In this connection, it must be understood that Atlanta did not ask for Mercer, and that she had nothing whatsoever to do with the suggestion of its removal, which took the shape of a resolution unanimously adopted by the recent Georgia Baptist Convention at Elberton.

The author of this resolution, Rev. J. E. Hudson, in a statement reproduced elsewhere today from The Macon Telegraph, explains that for eighteen years he has been impressed with the fact that Mercer should be located in Atlanta, and that the matter took formal shape in a conversation last July with Dr. Gaulden, of Quitman, a graduate of Mercer, who, living "in the extreme southern part of the state," was "enthusiasic for the move."

The committee appointed to consider the question of removal met on Thursday in Macon. This committee consists of prominent Baptists from every part of the state, and its chairman is Hon. T. G. Lawson, of Eatonton. In an address issued to the Baptists of the state, the committee declares that it is ready to receive and consider proposals from Macon or Atlanta, or any other part of the state. The committee says further:

> The action of the convention was the result of a quiet agitation growing out of the action of the board of trustees of Mercer University two years ago, and was not the result of any local movement in Atlanta or Macon. The responsibility for the suggested removal rests solely with the Baptists of Georgia, by whose convention the resolution was passed at the recent session in Elberton.

The Macon News is frank enough to admit that the talk of capturing the capitol is "a retaliatory measure," of which it says:

> The retaliatory proposition raised by Macon to invite the removal of the state capitol to this city may have impressed our friends in Atlanta at first blush as a joke, but a change very quickly came over the spirit of their dreams, and we are disposed to think that in their secret hearts they do not now regard it an entirely laughing matter. The storm of disapprobation aroused throughout south Georgia against Mercer's removal on the one hand and the corresponding chorus of approval of the proposition to bring the capitol of Georgia to the center of the state on the other hand discloses grounds of potentiality and arguments of feasibility which are calculated to give the Atlanta spirit pause.

Now, it seems that the way is open—and the proposition easy—for Macon to get the benefit of much of the energy that it is expending on a wild goose chase after the capitol, admittedly based on the argument that it is seeking to retaliate against Atlanta for an offense with which Atlanta had nothing whatsoever to do.

If Macon will get busy on the proposition to raise for Mercer only one-fourth of the amount that it proposes to raise in its "retaliatory" campaign for the capitol it will store much of the energy now being wasted, and—at the same time—it will hold Mercer in Macon!

More than that, if Macon will proceed in the effort to raise $250,000 for Mercer, Atlanta and The Constitution will help her in the good work!

In all sense of fairness and justice, The Constitution respectfully submits that Atlanta should not be made the scapegoat of Macon's indignation at the suggestion of the State Baptist Convention that Mercer must have more material help from the city in which it is located, and that if it should be necessary to get such help as is demanded, it would invite proposals from Atlanta.

Macon now has an excellent opportunity to establish its public spirit and to hold Mercer at the same time without even the suggestion of Atlanta being further mentioned in connection with the question of removal of the college.

All she has to do is to simply go out after the mere bagatelle of $250,000 for the maintenance of a great home institution—a bagatelle, we say, because if it is such an easy matter to raise a million or so dollars for the removal of the capitol to Macon, it should be only a few days' work to get up a fourth of a million dollars for Mercer.

It is simply a question of holding the substance at one-fourth of the price that the chase of the shadow will cost.

And more than that, a million dollars' worth of wasted energy will be saved!

WOULD BE UNFIT IF HE DID NOT.

The Brunswick News, for the past several years lined up very strongly against ex-Governor Joseph M. Terrell, and frequently outspoken in its political criticism of him, has this to say:

> The Atlanta Constitution advises Senator Terrell to resign promptly when the present session of congress is over to give all candidates a fair show. Now, if Joe Terrell does that we will change our opinion of him right now.

And if Senator Terrell does not hand his commission back to the governor, in the event the state committee gives the people the right to name their senator by vote, then The Constitution will very materially change its opinion of Senator Terrell!

More than that, if a primary should be ordered and if Senator Terrell did not "pour his commission back into the jug," we would say that he was not a fit man for the place.

No man in Georgia is fit to represent this state in the United States senate who is willing to deprive the people of the right to say who their senator shall be!

Georgia was one of the first states in the union to lead the fight for popular election of senators and it should be the very last state to take the back track when the issue has become one of national importance.

THE TEACHERS' SALARIES.

The views of Councilman Steve R. Johnston on the proposition to increase the salaries of the school teachers of Atlanta will be fully indorsed by all those who understand the situation, and no one in Atlanta is better acquainted with its every detail than Councilman Johnston, whose resolution, introduced in council several weeks ago, is held pending consideration.

In the meantime the board of education has asked council to do better by the teachers, and there can be no doubt that just as soon as a way can be found favorable action will be taken, for there is probably not a member of the city legislative body that is not in full accord with the spirit of the movement.

The influence of the school teacher is undoubtedly stronger for good than any other outside the home or the Sunday school. She strengthens the moral fiber and trains the intelligence of the young child in its most impressionable formative state.

To satisfactorily discharge the duties of such a position implies careful preparation, study, reading and research.

Such a course of training in any field of activity is compensated for at reasonably gratifying rates. Yet Atlanta's teachers are paid salaries that are absolutely inadequate to maintain the standard demanded of them under existing high prices of necessities.

The announcement that Jonesboro and other smaller towns around Atlanta pay higher salaries than are paid in this city is a reproach. That wages were higher forty years ago seems incredible.

Trained nurses, milliners, saleswomen, stenographers, bookkeepers and other avocations open to women of the intelligence and culture needed by the school teacher get better wages than the school teachers.

Such a condition cannot much longer exist. It means that the schools will suffer, and that young women having a real love for the work of teaching are forced into other and less congenial lines of work which pay better.

It is a niggardly, parsimonious and indefensible policy which taxes the teachers to build new schools.

School teachers have a serious and weighty responsibility. They are specialists as much as the trained nurse or trained cook, and yet both of the latter receive higher pay.

With the backing of the board of education, who have asked for an appropriation sufficient to cover salary increases, the teachers will carry their fight to council and win.

THE LAST CALL FOR MARIETTA STREET.

The finishing touches on the campaign to secure the widening of Marietta street from Tabernacle place to Ponders avenue, making this one of the most promising of the street arteries of the city, will be added today.

To block an improvement of this sort is an act for which no patriotic Atlantan should care to be responsible.

The advantages to flow from this improvement are apparent and manifold.

Recently a famous New York architect solemnly declared that practically every big city in the country ought to be torn down and rebuilt with wider streets.

Wider thoroughfares are one of the essential demands of commerce as well as of civic beauty.

No street in Atlanta is now so easily capable of this treatment as Marietta street. Never again, unless Atlanta suffers the calamity of again being laid low by fire, will the opportunity now offered be presented.

With Marietta street, it is a case of now or never, and the property-owners have with an almost unanimous voice—which should today be made unanimous—answered:

Now!

Only $4,000 stands between the committee and the completion of the work.

To Councilman W. T. Winn the major share of the credit for pushing through this great campaign is due. Lacking his persistence, energy and optimism, the project would have failed long ago. If it fails now it will be through no fault of his.

But it must not fail!

Today tells the story!

THE CITY AND THE TEACHERS--A WORD TO ATLANTA MOTHERS

---From a Teacher

Editor Constitution: "Only a brave purpose—an unselfish purpose" can meet the difficulties that confront our board of education, our superintendent and our teachers.

The mothers of Atlanta should consider whether they are willing to have their child one of sixty, fifty-five, fifty, or even forty-five!

The Atlanta teachers are more than willing to do their part.

I dare say eight teachers out of ten, who have been compelled, by the conditions in our schools, to teach fifty and sixty children, will admit that their afternoons, evenings and a portion of Sundays, have been necessarily devoted to correcting papers, etc.

Mothers, could you discipline fifty-five or sixty healthy or unhealthy boys and girls, correct papers that are absolutely necessary for the good of the child, and not feel fagged out by summer? You have every right to expect the teachers of your children to be models of "sweetness and self-sacrifice" in their professional and social relations; to be absorbed in ideals of high, urgent and noble moment; to neglect no act of kindness; to be faithful to the charities which characterize the domestic hearth; to exhibit a calm devotion to everything that is good, pure and elevating. But, in the name of simple justice, they need more time and smaller classes if it is possible for the city to give it.

Are Atlanta mothers studying the question of public schools elsewhere? America would do well to imitate Switzerland. There, one teacher is allowed the privilege of instructing twenty or twenty-five.

If Atlanta mothers would confer with each other, our board of education, Superintendent Slaton and the finance committee of our progressive city, we could, in time, double the number of teachers.

Their condition, as our board of education and Superintendent Slaton will tell you, cannot be changed in the twinkling of an eye; but they are facing it. Atlanta is facing it through her taxpayers. You are facing it; your child is facing it, to say nothing of the teachers who modestly admit they are a very small screw in the machinery of our public school system.

Six years ago, almost every school had a supernumerary who gave much of her time gratis, it being considered that she was serving her apprenticeship, and should consider herself fortunate to enter such varied work, for it gave her experience she would need when she was given a regular class.

Any supernumerary who is alive to the situation would certainly make a better teacher by serving such apprenticeship, for the privilege of merely seeing some of our Atlanta teachers conduct recitations is most helpful to even experienced teachers. But, in the meantime—our supernumeraries are paying board, none less than $25 a month.

Atlanta teachers have stood patiently by their posts of varied duties because they believed in a new era, in better things, and in a gradual evolution of our public school system.

Some of these things have already come, but Atlanta can't stop growing, and now its teachers look for better things!

TWO MEN ARE INJURED IN FALL FROM LADDER

G. Taylor Dyer, aged 34 years, of 226 Pulliam street, and E. J. Cooker, aged 36 years, of 291 East Hunter street, interior painters, engaged in kalsomining work in the new Greenfield building on Marietta street, were seriously injured yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a fall of about 18 feet from a ladder standing board. Both of Dyer's ankles were broken, and Cooker sustained a broken left arm and a fractured rib. The injured men were rushed to the Grady hospital.

The accident occurred in one of the street stores of the building. Dyer and Cooker were both standing on a board placed upon two upright ladders and were kalsomining the ceiling when an unsteady motion of one of them caused the platform to topple.

East Orange, N. He was admitted to the bar in New York city in 1878, and from the beginning of his career devoted practically his entire attention to corporation law. He was the author of "Dill on Corporations," the standard work on the subject.

New York, December 2.—Police Commissioner Cropsey has decreed that New York must be a noiseless town, and today issued an order for the police to put a "hush" on flat-wheeled trolley cars, new-fangled auto horns and other disturbers of the city's peace.

ORIGIN OF MERCER REMOVAL EXPLAINED BY AUTHOR OF THE RESOLUTION ADOPTED

(From The Macon Telegraph.)

The following has been issued by J. E. Hudson, who introduced the resolution before the Baptist convention at Elberton, calling for the appointment of a committee to consider the advisability of removing Mercer from Macon:

"The following is written out of simple justice to the brethren of Atlanta who are, with the city, being unjustly criticised by many in the state.

"This criticism strives to make it appear that Atlanta was making an effort to take from a sister city a great educational institution for the sake of furthering Atlanta's interest; while my brethren there are made a party to such an unenviable undertaking. That both Atlanta and all Baptists there should be interested is perfectly natural and should not subject either the brethren as individuals or as class nor yet the city in any movement it may take to unkind remarks. Indeed, any Christian college is one of the best assets to any community.

"Certainly Macon would be expected to protest, for Mercer has meant much to the Central City during these years of joint fellowship. Let, therefore, the question be, as between the cities, one of absolute fairness; each doing its part nobly. As between brethren, whether in Macon or Atlanta, that of Mercer's future well being. But to the facts.

"For eighteen years or more I have been impressed with the importance of this contemplated move. Many have been the talks with brethren from different parts of the state. In nearly every instance there has been a unanimity of opinion that Atlanta was the more desirable location, but it would not be prudent to undertake to do so.

"Last July in conversation with W. T. Gaulden, of Quitman, from Atlanta to Macon we discussed the matter at length. He was enthusiastic for the move. The fact that this brother was a graduate of the university and lived in the extreme southern part of the state impressed me.

"The morning I left for the convention a letter came from him in which he stated that the most of south and all of north Georgia as far as he could learn, were in favor of the move and in his judgment the question should be brought before the convention at Elberton.

"The seriousness of the matter had thoroughly mastered me and for that reason alone I hesitated. Thursday morning I wrote out the resolutions before going to the convention building. Until then no one knew my purpose to be fixed. After preparing the resolutions which looked to the removal to Atlanta—not some other place, but Atlanta, it then became my duty to inquire of the Atlanta brethren as to what they thought. Explaining to three of them my purpose. To Brother Broughton only, reading them. All three concurred in the movement. I had hoped to see Brother Frank Mallory, of Macon, also but failed to find him. Only five others, two in middle, three in north Georgia, so far as I know, knew of the existing resolutions until read in the convention.

"These resolutions expressly stated that a man from each city more directly interested, Macon and Atlanta, should be appointed.

"This is written with the hope that hereafter no one will charge the brethren of Atlanta with inaugurating the movement or influencing the author in the preparation of the resolutions in any manner whatsoever.

"Under God I am alone responsible and willing to meet any criticism which they may provoke.

"(Sign-d) (Rev.) J. E. HUDSON."

PRESENT COLD WAVE NOW NEARING END

There was Slight Rise in Temperature on Thursday Afternoon.

As predicted by Weather Observer von Herrmann Thursday afternoon, there was a slight rise in the temperature Friday, and indications are that the most severe weather of the present cold wave is past.

HE WAS CERTAINLY A PROUD MAN.

Early Friday morning the mercury was at 2 degrees above zero, but at noon it had climbed up to 32. There was another descent to the twenties late in the evening, and at night it was cold enough to satisfy the most exacting, although it was noticeably warmer than the preceding night.

Saturday will be fair, and there will very probably be another slight rise in the temperature, and by Sunday the weather should be fairly decent.

Warmer weather was recorded over nearly all the country Friday, with the exception of the lake regions, where snow was still falling. In the Rocky Mountain region, where the present cold wave originated, it was decidedly warmer.

So that, after all, Weather Observer von Herrmann had the weather caught with the goods when he announced Thursday afternoon that the backbone of the cold wave would have a joint jerked out of it Thursday night.

"If city hall officials notice a certain city hall reporter walking around with his chest poked out, it may be well to state now that there is a very good reason for this chesty air," announced the Gopher.

"Be it known to all that world that this particular reporter is a grandfather; yes, sir, boss, a sure enough grandfather. And he is about the proudest grandparent that ever bounced a grandchild on his knee. To look at him you'd think Rockefeller had willed him a half interest in Standard Oil. The smile he wears has swallowed all the scenery from ear to ear."

1909 RECORD SMASHED BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

Year Will Show a Gain of More Than One Hundred Calls Over Last Year.

As in 1909, when the Atlanta fire department responded to 100 more alarms than during the year previous, so this year of 1910 will go on record with an increase of more than 100 runs over last year. The runs for 1910 yesterday stood something like 804. In 1909 there were 739 alarms turned in. In 1908 the number was 639. But although the number of runs will be over 200 above the 1908 record before this year ends, the loss of property then totaled greater because of the Terminal district conflagration.

FROM SOUTH DAKOTA BY AUTO TO ATLANTA AND JACKSONVILLE

From South Dakota to Atlanta and from here to Jacksonville, Fla., is the tour which A. E. Jewell, wife and son are making in their automobile.

They left their home at Cresbard, S. D., early in October and reached Atlanta two weeks ago.

They will leave here today over the Round-the-State route for Florida, going by way of Macon, Americus, Albany, Thomasville and Valdosta.

They are touring leisurely, to see the country and to get the outdoor life. They carry along a tent and when the weather is pleasant, they camp out.

The Jewells came down by Kansas City, St. Louis, Cairo, Nashville, Huntsville, Gadsden and Rome. They found the worst roads in northen Nebraska. The sand up there does not seem to have any bottom. The Illinois roads were worse than they expected, but on the whole the tour has been most enjoyable and devoid of unpleasant experiences or accidents. They are driving a Buick 17 and state that they have not had any mechanical trouble.

They were pleased to learn that their best roads are ahead of them, between Atlanta and the Florida line.

Mr. Jewell said that he will spend the winter in Florida and return home probably by way of Atlanta and New York, going north from here over the National Highway.

VICKSBURG SOFT-DRINK ESTABLISHMENTS CLOSED

County Attorney Thinks That Other Than Mild Drinks Are Being Sold.

Vicksburg, Miss., December 2.—In obedience to a chancery court order, issued late yesterday, the doors to Vicksburg's twenty four "soft drink" establishments are locked and barred today and must remain so for a month at least. In his application for a restraining order, which was granted, County Attorney Theodore McKnight, Jr., asserted that he had gathered evidence tending to prove that other than the milder beverages were being dispensed in violation of the state prohibition laws.

The next term of chancery court will be convened in January, when it will be determined as to whether the injunctions should be made perpetual.

FLOODS GENERAL THROUGHOUT FRANCE

From All Sections of Country Come Stories of Immense Damage.

Paris, December 2.—Flood conditions are again general throughout France. About 3½ feet of rain fell in November, and from all sections come stories of immense damage done.

Although the Seine and the Rhine were stationary today, the Gironde, Garonne and the Loire rivers continued to rise, and the rivers of Normandy and Brittany are greatly swollen.

Great fear of serious effects upon next year's cereal and wine crops is felt.

COUNCILMAN STEVE JOHNTSON ON PAYMENT OF TEACHERS

Editor Constitution: I write to thank you both officially and personally for the valuable assistance you have rendered the teachers in their efforts to have their salaries increased by the mayor and general council.

For the past three years I have had the honor to serve as chairman of the committee on schools and have used my best efforts toward accomplishing this end. I have no fault to find with the mayor and general council up to date, as they have granted every request I have made of them heretofore in behalf of the schools; but it is my earnest desire that the noble, self-sacrificing women who are teachers in our schools in Atlanta should receive the compensation they deserve for the hard work they perform.

I am ashamed to say it, but the fact is that there are a great many negro laborers in our city who receive more pay for their work than some of our teachers do, and as long as I remain a member of the general council I shall do my utmost to secure for these women a decent salary.

Last month I introduced in council several resolutions looking to the increase of teachers' salaries and giving somewhat in detail the amount of increase asked for. They are as follows:

Grade teachers: Minimum $60, maximum $85.

Twenty per cent (20 per cent) increase for assistant principals.

A minimum of $1,200 for principals of eight-grade schools.

Head of department of physiology and hygiene from $1,400 to $2,000.

Assistant principal Girls' High school: Minimum $1,400; maximum $1,800.

Head of departments Girls' High school: Minimum $1,100; maximum $1,500.

Associate teachers Girls' High school: Minimum $800; maximum $1,300.

As you are aware, a number of small towns in Georgia are now paying teachers in their schools larger salaries than we do ours. When the board of education orders an examination of applicants for teachers' places very many ladies write to ascertain what are the salaries in the Atlanta school. When these correspondents ascertain that the Atlanta schools pay the first year teachers $52.50 they decline to make application 'because they are already receiving from $60 to $65 in many of the southern cities. In other words, Atlanta, a great city of 155,000 population, takes second place to many little towns in other states. This should not be. I have given the subject of schools a great deal of study since I have been an ex-officio member of the board of education during the past three years, and I unhesitatingly state that our teachers are the poorest paid of any city of our size in the United States that I know anything of.

I trust you will continue in your good work, and I know that you will receive the heartfelt thanks of these good women who are wearing themselves out working to educate our children. Very respectfully,

STEVE R. JOHNSTON.

Atlanta, Ga., December 2, 1910.

CALL FOR SENATORIAL PRIMARY REITERATED BY GEORGIA PRESS

Mr. Smith on Record.

(From The Hawkinsville Dispatch and News.)

Mr. Smith has gone on record as one favoring the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people, and we cannot see how he can consistently become a candidate before the legislature, if it should be left to that body to name a senator.

The People's Business.

(From The Cordele Dispatch.)

Let the people attend to the selection of a successor to Senator Clay, and thereby give the legislature an opportunity of doing something for the people unhampered by any issue that can best be settled by a popular vote of the people.

Continue to Call.

(From The Athens Banner.)

The people of the state continue to call upon Chairman Wright to arrange for a senatorial primary. The call may not be heeded, but it will be made from now until the next senator is chosen. The people know their rights and they are going to make themselves heard. The committee that stands in their way will have to take the consequences in the future.

An Excuse That Falls Flat.

(From Th Rome Tribune-Herald.)

The plea that it would never do—oh, never!—to involve the dear people in "another heated campaign," falls flatter than a flounder when it is remembered that the election of the Hon. Hoke to the senate would precipitate immediately another hot gubernatorial campaign.

We repeat the initial query—

Is the Hon. Hoke Smith afraid?

The Right of the People.

(From The Monticello Journal.)

Why not a senatorial primary when the people want one? They have a right to say who shall represent them in the highest ligeslative body in the world.

The Duty of the Committee.

(From The Columbus Enquirer-Sun.)

Georgia democrats, having declared for the nomination of public officers by popular vote rather than by the convention system, it seems that it is the duty of the state committee that was selected at the time the platform was adopted, to provide for such primary for the nomination of a United States senator. Unless it does so it will have fallen short of the discharge of the duty placed upon it by the convention that adopted the platform and named the committee.

"A Rich Man's Fight."

(From The Sandersville Georgian.)

There is no need to have a fresh campaign to annoy the people, besides this the primary would entail considerable expense upon the candidates, amounting to thousands of dollars, and some who are worthy to occupy this high position would be debarred from entering the race, which would ultimately become a rich man's fight.

The Rights of the People.

(From The Dublin Courier-Dispatch.)

We are opposed to so many elections, but twice the people of the state have gone on record in the party platform for the election of all of the officers by direct vote, and it is our judgment that the democratic executive committee of the state will be remiss in its duties and obligations if it does not allow the people of the state an opportunity to select Mr. Clay's successor. As we have stated, we care nothing about the matter one way or another, but the people do, and the people have a right to have their wishes respected.

TWO MEN ARE INJURED AT NEW GATINS HOTEL

Night Watchman Anderson Is Burned by Explosion and Negro's Skull Fractured.

Eight hours after the night watchman of the new Gatins hotel in course of construction at Peachtree and Ponce de Leon avenue had been admitted to the Grady hospital, suffering from dangerous burns received from the explosion of a stove at the building, one of the negro workmen was brought in yesterday afternoon, suffering from a fractured skull.

A chunk of lead fell from the top of the frame and struck the negro as he was at work on the ground. He was knocked unconscious, and a trephining operation was found necessary. It is said at the hospital that he may recover.

Edwin H. Anderson, 33 years of age, of 334 Crew street, is the injured watchman. Early Friday morning, while replenishing the fire in a coal stove on the ground, an unaccountable explosion resulted, and he was hurled to the ground by the shock and severely burned about the face hands and arms. He lay for several hours, unable to move before a pedestrian discovered him and called the ambulance.

WIDER MARIETTA STREET AS FAR AS PONDERS AVENUE

Marietta street is to be widened and the improvement will not only go as far as North avenue, but two blocks farther to Ponders avenue. This will make the total cost $5,000 more than was at first estimated, but nevertheless the money will be raised and the work done.

When the sun sets this afternoon the list will be closed and the committee will be ready to announce to the mayor and the finance committee of council that everything is in shape for the city to pay its portion of the expenses—$13,000.

Friday night Councilman W. T. Winn announced that only $4,000 was lacking to raise the total amount of $32,000, but he was certain that every dollar would be subscribed by Saturday night.

"Only five property owners remain to be seen," said Mr. Winn, "and only $4,000 is to be raised, but I am in a position to state that I am certain the whole matter will be closed Saturday night and that the widening of Marietta street from Tabernacle place to Ponders avenue is assured. We will give the good news in full in Sunday's Constitution."

REORGANIZE GRIFFIN CLUB

Organization Was on Verge of Going to the Wall.

Griffin, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) At a large and enthusiastic meeting last night the Commercial Club, one of Griffin's oldest and best institutions, was reorganized, Hon. Robert F. Strickland being elected president; J. S. Tyrus, secretary and treasurer, and David J. Bailey, T. J. Brooks and Colonel L. P. Goodrich members of the governing board.

The membership of the club, which has been in years past of vital importance to the social and commercial life of Griffin, had fallen off and there were wild rumors that the club would fail, but new life and interest has been thrown into its organization and it will continue its sphere of usefulness.

Pythians Give Banquet.

Griffin, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) The Knights of Pythias gave an elegant banquet tonight at the English cafe. The Knights of Pythias have been strong numerically in the past, but the lodge is not now in a flourishing condition, and it was to arouse interest and take on new life that the banquet was held.

CORN CONTEST FOR FLOYD

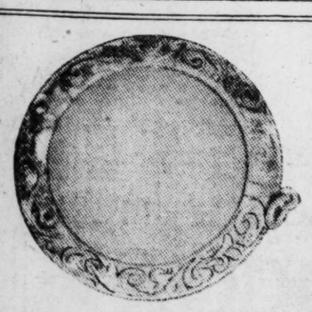

Manufacturers and Merchants Will Offer Prizes.

Rome, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) The farmers of Floyd county will again have an opportunity to contest for splendid corn prizes. Through the joint committee from the Farmers' Union and the Manufacturers and Merchants' Association, that had charge of the 1910 contest, the American Bank and Trust Company, said that they would offer $200 in prizes for the farmers of Floyd, who raise the largest yield of corn in 1911.

The rules governing next year's contest have not yet been formulated, but they will likely follow closely the lines laid down by the committee of this year, which prescribed 60 bushels of corn as the minimum yield per acre to make the grower eligible.

Griffin Bonds Validated.

Griffin, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) Judge Reagan has signed the papers validating the bonds for the erection of a new courthouse for Spalding county in accordance with the bond election held on November 8. The courthouse will cost $80,000 and work upon the construction of the building will begin in the early spring of next year.

TEN-STORY HOTEL OFFERED MACON, IF--

The Capitol of Georgia Is Moved to the Central City.

Macon, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) Added to the more than $100,000 popular subscription now on the list to move the state capitol to Macon, J. A. Newcomb today pledged $5,000 and a ten-story hotel in the event the capitol is brought to Macon.

Such subscriptions as these are causing the move much entsusiasm and before Monday night, when the mass meeting is held, fully a quarter of a million will have been subscribed. It is not at all improbable that half a million dollars will be subscribed before the meeting is over. Delegations from south Georgia points are to attend the meeting Monday night at the city auditorium.

The rehearing of complaints against previous Pullman rates was adjourned after this agreement today, and the Pullman company agreed to prepare a new schedule showing the reduction offered for all points, pending the decision of the commission.

PRESIDENT PEEL HAS SETTLED THIS MATTER

Editor Constitution: In your issue of December 1, the question is asked, "Does Atlanta want 'Salome?'"

From what I have heard of that play, I am quite sure it should not be allowed to come to Atlanta. If the thing is too bad for Chicago, it is too bad for Atlanta.

In the name of the good, clean people of Atlanta and in the name of the churches (and I know I voice their sentiments), I protest.

If the play is as corrupt as it is represented to be, it is very certain that Mayor Maddox will not allow the thing to appear in Atlanta. Respectfully,

A. R. HOLDERBY,
Pastor Moore Memorial Church.

FRIENDLY FLUFFY TERESA MET TARTAR IN HESTER

Poor Teresa!

Yesterday the sweetest and fluffiest of French poodles. Today a poor imitation of a wash-rag.

The trouble was Hester. Hester is a real aristocrat of dogdom, a pit bull, with the most correct bow-legs and broken nose, and is a good imitation of a cyclone. He is the property of A. Frank Cox, of 10 Atwood avenue, in West End. Teresa was the delight of a neighbor.

They are digging a drain out in that neighborhood, and the ditch runs under the fence of Mr. Cox. Otherwise, Teresa could never have paid that fatal visit, because the gate always stays shut, for the very purpose of keeping out stray dogs and tramps. She managed to get under, however, and rambled switchingly back to where Hester belligerently guarded his restricted domain. Restricted, because he is permanently chained. She was a friendly little soul, and with gladness in her eyes and animation in the fluff called her tail, she two-stepped right up to pay the call demanded by good breeding. But though Hester is of fine breed he is not well bred.

Poor Teresa. Poor, dear Teresa.

A summons was given Mr. Cox to appear in court, and he appeared, but there was no case made out Friday, and he was asked to return today. It may be that the prosecution will appear, and a memorial service held in the court room in honor of the dear departed.

SLUMP IN PRICES OF FOOD DOESN'T EXTEND TO ATLANTA

The housewife who goes a-marketing today with the expectation of finding the expense of a Sunday dinner materially reduced is destined to return home disappointed.

The slump in prices of food which is reported to have occurred in other more favored cities of the land, doesn't extend as far as Atlanta, and evidently doesn't intend to. Prices are glued right where they have been for weeks past, and if they have experienced the slightest jostle it hasn't been visible with the naked eye.

But since people must eat regardless of price let us turn for a moment to the menu offered for Sunday by the local markets, and, incidentally, the prices thereof.

In selecting her eatables Saturday the housewife will find herself between vegetable seasons and faced with the necessity of providing her dinner largely from meats.

There are a few vegetables on the market—very few. The cabbage and the turnips and the radishes all look a little frost-bitten, but some of them are in fairly good shape. Cabbage is going at 3 cents per pound, turnip salad 25 cents a peck, radishes and carrots 5 cents a bunch, turnips 5 cents a bunch, eggplant 10 cents each, Irish and sweet potatoes 35 cents a peck, lettuce 15 cents a head, new onions 5 cents a bunch, dry onions 10 cents a quart, tomatoes 20 cents a quart, dry peas 15 cents a quart, snap beans 10 cents a quart, celery 10 and 15 cents a stalk.

Lamb fries are something new in the meat line and are selling at 25 cents per set. Frog legs are a luxury at 50 cents per pair.

Game, especially birds, is scarce. Turkey is standing pat at 25 cents per pound on foot and 30 cents per pound dressed. Birds cost 30 cents a piece, rabbits 25 cents and squirrels 30 cents. There are a few 'possums on the market at $1 to $2 each, depending on the size. Geese range from $1 to $1.50.

Teal ducks cost 65 cents apiece, mallard 75 cents and spring 50 cents. Ducks are also very scarce.

Oyster crabs are $1.25 per quart, stew oysters 30 and 40 cents per quart, Blue Points 50 cents a dozen, Rockaways 25 cents a dozen, Spanish mackerel 20 cents per pound, trout 15 cents, perch 12½ cents, halibut, black bass, California salmon and Finnan haddies 20 cents per pound, scallops 50 cents per quart, red snapper 12½ cents and Mango snapper 15 cents per pound.

Eggs are still 35 cents a dozen, frying size chickens are 50 and 60 cents each, and hens are 25 cents a pound.

In the fruit line oranges are worth 30 and 40 cents per dozen, grapes 15 cents a pound, grapefruit 10 and 15 cents each and nuts 20 cents a pound.

WESTERN UNION OPENS OCEAN MAIL SERVICE

Correspondence Dispatched for an Ocean Mail Within Few Hours of Sailing.

The Western Union Telegraph Company announced yesterday another innovation in telegraph service, called "the special ocean mail service," designed to save time in foreign correspondence. A New York merchant writing to Yokohoma must post his letter practically a week before the mail steamer sails from San Francisco or Vancouver.

The Western Union has arranged for the use of its night letter and other telegraphic service in connection with outgoing ocean mails so that this week of transcontinental time may be saved. Its New York office will receive telegrams from any part of the country destined to European addresses, and will forward them in a sealed specially address envelope by the first outgoing Atlantic steamship mail. The same plan will be followed in San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver for trans-Pacific mails.

This will enable correspondence to be dispatched from any part of the United States for an ocean mail within a few hours of sailing time. The only change in addition to the usual telegraph tolls to the ocean mail port will be 5 cents for postage. Telegrams should bear the full mail address of the foreign correspondent for whom they are intended, and marked "Care Ocean Mail, New York or San Francisco, Seattle or Vancouver," as the case may be. No charge will be made for the address.

DEKALB AVENUE UNDERGOING WONDERFUL TRANSFORMATION

The top picture shows the upper end of cut on DeKalb avenue, looking towards Atlanta. In the middle is a view of the grading on DeKalb avenue; cross mark shows where underpass will go under Georgia railroad tracks, looking towards Decatur. In the bottom is seen Moreland avenue near DeKalb, showing how DeKalb avenue will look when the work now in progress is completed.

DeKalb avenue, the thoroughfare that leads from Atlanta to Decatur, is now undergoing splendid and permanent improvements. When the work is finished one of the most important roadways in the state, that has hitherto been a topographical disgrace, will have been converted into one of the finest boulevards in this section of the country.

DeKalb avenue is the continuation of Decatur street. It is being paved from Yonge street in the city to Moreland avenue by the county authorities, and this pavement is bitulithic. From Moreland avenue to Mayson avenue the city is putting down a pavement of macadam with oil binder. The rest of the avenue to the city limits will be paved by the county of DeKalb.

A large trunk sewer has been laid on the avenue, which is now being connected with a main sewer, and for this work excavations are being made under the Southern railroad tracks.

On October 27, last, the lessees of the Georgia railroad entered into an agreement with the city for a grade crossing at Moreland avenue, and agreed to build, at their own expense, an underpass at Whiteford avenue. These two improvements will greatly benefit travel from DeKalb avenue to the south.

The authorities of DeKalb county are now at work regrading and paving DeKalb avenue from the city limits to Decatur, and will soon finish the work.

So, altogether, it will be seen that there is quite a revolution going on in the way of improving DeKalb avenue, a thoroughfare that is probably as much used for travel as any roadway in Georgia.

While the credit for this work is due to several people, there is no one who has done more than Councilman Aldine Chambers, of the ninth ward, who has been untiring and indefatigable in his efforts to get DeKalb avenue improved.

VICTORY LOOMS FOR UNIONISTS

four, the opposition leader, of his willingness to leave tariff reform to a referendum have frankly deprecated the referendum as being unsuited to Great Britian and as tending to destroy the responsibility of representative institutions.

Meantime, however, further familiarity with the idea has had the effect of uniting the whole unionist party and press in its favor, and Mr. Balfour's courage in adopting it is hailed now as having secured for his party an excellent prospect of victory at the elections. It is a curious fact that at the time of the rupture of the recent veto conference an inspired statement in The Times asserted that both sides to the conference had rejected the idea of a referendum.

If that be the case Mr. Balfour's decision must have been an afterthought, and it is asserted in well-informed quarters tonight that he first consulted Joseph Chamberlain and obtained his acquiescence before proceeding temporarily to shelve hariff reform by urging recourse to the referendum.

Irish League of America Takes Hand.

Boston, December 2.—On the eve of important pollings tomorrow in the British elections, the United Irish League of America, through its treasurer, Thomas B. This makes a total sent during the last six weeks of $60,000 of the "American dollars" which have caused adverse criticism by a section of the British press.

FREIGHT RATES UP TO GOVERNOR

The commission in its decision Friday held that while it has no jurisdiction to compel an application of local rates to interstate shipments, the company is violating the terms of its contract by not applying them to the through shipments, and resolved that the entire matter should be referred to the governor without any recommendation.

Classification Rate.

The southern classification rates are fixed by the railroads themselves and are subject to the approval or disapproval of the interstate commerce commission. In some instances their classification, or rate, does not conflict with the local rate fixed by the Georgia commission, but in some instances it does, and this fact brought on the complaint from the freight bureau.

For example, a certain article may be put in class 5 by the state commission and the freight rate for that article per 100 miles may be 35 cents. Under the southern classification the same article may be put in class 4 and the rate per 100 miles be 40 cents.

The freight bureau cited several instances where the southern classification on interstate shipments; that is, shipments between points in Georgia and Chattanooga, Tenn., demands a higher rate than is demanded by the classification fixed by the commission for local shipments or shipments between points in Georgia.

Obviously the case is beyond the jurisdiction of the Georgia commission, because the road has the authority to enforce those rates unless it is estopped by the terms of its lease contract.

Future action in the matter is now up to the governor. Under the terms of the lease failure or refusal to comply with any provision of it authorizes the governor to declare it null and void and to take possession of the road, or he may enter suit to compel its enforcement.

Reduction of 25 Per Cent.

Harry T. Moore, of the Atlanta freight bureau, who filed the petition with the commission last summer, stated Friday night that if the state succeeds in enforcing the provision of the lease regarding the freight rates, it will mean a reduction of about 25 per cent on all the articles which are now rated under the southern classtion and which, by the terms of the lease, should be rated under the classification of the state commission.

Mr. Moore stated that there are about 275 of these articles involved in the rate question, and of all of them the rate is higher under the southern classification than it would be under the local rate.

WOMAN IS ROBBED BY BLACK HIGHWAYMAN

Chicago, December 2.—Mrs. Ida Farber is the third victim of the negro highwayman who is being sought by the police of every station on the south side. In spite of the fact that more than 200 detectives and policemen in uniform had been instructed to search for him, he held up Mrs. Farber last night a short distance from her home, and, after choking and beating her, robbed her of a pocketbook containing $57 and a gold chain and locket. Then, leaving his victim lying helpless on the street, the negro escaped.

Mrs. Farber's screams attracted the attention of neighbors and they carried her to a doctor's office, where her wounds were dressed and later she was assisted home.

Scores of detectives soon were searching the neighborhood for the robber, but he was not found.

SIGNOR PRATI WINS SUIT AGAINST "ALAMO"

Singer Will Now Leave for Boston to Join Opera Company.

The final chapter in the Atlanta experiences of Signor Isadore Prati, the singer, came to a close yesterday afternoon, when he was given a judgment again Mion & Davis, the former managers of the "Alamo," a motion picture theater on Whitehall.

Several weeks ago Signor Prati, who has sung in grand opera before the critics of Europe, accepted an offer from the managers of the "Alamo" theater in Atlanta, to sing in the theater at a salary of $50 a week.

The life was too strenuous for the singer. He claimed he was forced to sing more than he had contracted to. His employers did not agree with him. When they could not agree, they gave him the "grand bounce." Naturally, this lacerated Signor Prati's feelings. Hoping to recover something for his damaged feelings, he sued the managers of the "Alamo" for the salary of the week he was out of employment.

And Signor Prati leaves this afternoon for Boston, where he will be given a place among the stars of the Boston Opera Company.

Loses Arm in Gin.

Swainsboro, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—The gins in this county are claiming more than their usual toll of hands and arms this season, the victims being both white and colored. Lance Turner, a Graymont negro, is the latest victim. On Friday last, while working around the gin of George I. Rountree, he allowed his left arm to be caught in the gin and mangled it from the elbow down, making amputation necessary.

'POSSUM AND 'TATERS AT VETERANS' DINNER

Joe Wheeler Camp Holds Annual Meeting---Eight Men Died During Year.

In celebration of their regular annual meeting, members of Camp A. Wheeler's Cavalry, U. C. V., enjoyed a delightfully informal supper at the camp headquarters in the basement of the city hall last night. There were over thirty members present.

"'Possum and 'taters" held the place of honor on the bill of fare, but there were many other good things provided for the ex-followers of the great cavalryman, and these, with the stories and reminiscences which interspersed the courses, helped to round out an evening of unalloyed pleasure.

There was a slight tinge of sadness in the occasion, however, because of the fact that this is the last of the annual suppers which will be held in the city hall basement, which has been the headquarters of the camp for more than six years. The building is soon to be sold, and as yet no other quarters for the camp have been chosen.

Eight members of the camp have died during the year, and the annual memorial services in honor of these and the other dead comrades will be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. W. L. Lingle will preach the memorial sermon.

SHORT-DISTANCE SPRINTS AT JAX.

Make Splendid Day's Racing.

In First Event Three Horses Finish So Closely the Judges Alone Decide --- Small Fields Make Stringent Rule Necessary---Favorites' Good Day.

Jacksonville, Fla., December 2.—The program at Moncrief was arranged mostly for short distance sprinters today, five of the afternoon's events being run over the 5½ and 6-furlong routes and some good racing resulted. One of the closest finishes of the meeting was furnished in the first race, when the first four horses finished so close together that none but the judge could separate them. Phonoris Woolspun, Madeline L. and Lou Lanier passing the wire heads apart in the order named.

A slight moderation in the weather brought out a large crowd, among them being many new arrivals from the north. Form players were fairly successful, as half of the card went to favorites, one of them, Stone Man, being played from 2½ to 1 to even money.

In order to avoid sending small fields to the post, the management of the racing association today decided to prohibit the withdrawal of any horses of the many race in which six or less entries are named. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Breeders' purse, all ages, 5½ furlongs, $400: Phonoris, 105 (Adams), 8 to 1, 2 to 1, 3 to 5, won; Woolspun, 11 (Davenport), 5 to 1, 3 to 2, 3 to 5, second; Madeline L., 108 (Butwell), 7 to 1, 5 to 2, even, third. Time, 1:08 3-5. Lou Lanier, Anna, Lydia Lee, Woolcasta also ran.

SECOND RACE—Purse, $500, 2-year-olds, 6 furlongs: The Nigger, 100 (Bell), 7 to 1, 5 to 2, 6 to 5, won; Aldrian, 107 (Butwell), 4 to 1, 7 to 5, 3 to 5, second; Jeck Denman, 107 (Obert), 2 to 1, 4 to 5, 2 to 5, third. Time, 1:13 4-5. Antenor, White Wool, Patrick S., Heather Bloom, County Tax, Sand Hill also ran.

BRAGG RESIGNS ATHLETIC CLUB

Faculty Manager's Duties Too Arduous for Him to Continue.

Auburn, Ala., December 2.—(Special.) Professor Thomas Bragg, of the department of chemistry of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, has tendered his resignation to the college athletic board as faculty manager of athletics.

Professor Bragg for nine years has been a vital factor in Auburn's athletic administration. As a member of the old advisory board, and as a member of the athletic committee which succeeded it, he has been prominent, probably more than any other Auburn man, in directing the policy of athletics. When a more efficient system than that of the former student management was desired, Professor Bragg was elected the first faculty manager. He has been foremost in the crusades against professionalism and for clean athletics within the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, and the compliance with his standards has placed Auburn teams beyond the pale of suspicion. Under his management, too, several of the college's most successful teams have been developed, notably those of 1904, 1908, 1909 and 1910.

No action has been taken by the committee as yet in regard to his resignation, nor is there any member of the faculty at Auburn who is considered his logical successor. Professor Bragg gives as the reason for his resignation the fact that the demands of his college work necessitate the relinquishing the athletic duties.

The captain of the 1911 football team has not yet been elected, but the election will be announced at the football banquet Saturday night. The football banquet is given annually to the team by the faculty and townspeople of Auburn.

AT OAKLAND.

Oakland, Cal., December 2.—Showery weather prevailed at Emeryville today, but the track was not seriously affected. The defeat of Star Actor in the feature event came as a surprise. He failed to finish inside the money. Elgin won from Captain Burnett by a nose. Jockey Shilling who arrived last night, had his first mount on Tim Judge and landed him an easy winner.

The stewards ordered today that entries from the stable of T. H. Ryan be refused and suspended Jockey Buxton because of the unsatisfactory racing of Roman Wing, which won yesterday. The stewards are of the opinion that the horse had been raced previously, concealing his true form.

FIRST RACE—Five and a half furlongs: Tim Judge (Shilling), 5 to 1, won; Tay Pay (Archibald), 2 to 1, second; Prestolite (Pickens), 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:07 2-5. Eddie Dale, Nancy Ray, Portola, Bob Chocolate, Fontelle, Clyde Herbert, Waco Bill and Parlor Boy ran.

SECOND RACE—Futurity course. Quality Street (Garner), 5 to 1, won; Miss Sly (McCarthy), 11 to 5, second; Banerella (Callahan), 20 to 1, third. Time, 109 2-5. Beda, Sona, Cameo and Descendant finished as named.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs: Servicence (Glass), 6 to 5, won; Prudent (Gilbert), 10 to 1, second; Combury (Garner), 25 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 1-5. Emma G., Ressame, Novogorod, Specal Delivery, Titus II., Netting, Argonaut also ran.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and three sixteenths: Elgin (Thomas), 13 to 1, won; Captain Burnett (Garner), 7 to 2, second; Molesley (Kenderis), 9 to 2, third. Time, 1:59 3-5. Star Actor, Belleview, Sir Wesley, Swell Girl also ran.

FIFTH RACE—One mile: Tony Faust (Archibald), 2 to 1, won; Cabin (Mentry), 16 to 5, second; Devalta (Garner), 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:41 2-5. Plume, Roy Alstone, Nasmerito, Sake, Silver Grain, Gramercy, Ak Sar Ben and El Paisane finished as named.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs: Bellsnicker (Leeds), 6 to 1, won; Harry Stanhope (Cavanaugh), 6 to 1, second; Paj (Garner), 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:14. Lookout, Wap, Hannibal Boy, Lady Adelaide, Lady Rennselaer, Pete, Yellowfoot, Philistine and All Alone finished as named.

SANFORD BELIEVES IN ONE MAN "HIKING"

New York, December 2.—George Foster Sanford, the veteran Yale athletic adviser, who had a good deal to do with building up this year's Yale eleven, is convinced that the football rules committee has much work to do before another season rolls around, if the needs of the game are to be considered.

"I am outstandingly opposed to the forward pass over the line of scrimmage," he said. "The most important change which I would recommend is that the distance to be gained by rushing be reduced from 10 yards to 7. I also think that the runner should be allowed to 'tack on' to one player in hitting the line in order to equalize to some extent the attack with the defense."

BAUMGARDNER WILL LEAD ALABAMA

Half Back Chosen Captain of the 1911 Team.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., December 2.—(Special.)—The Alabama football team today elected Robert H. Baumgardner captain of the 1911 team. Baumgardener is from Bessemer, Ala., weighs 158 pounds in his togs and is 20 years old. Last year he played end and this year was a great success at left half back. He returns next year to take up academic work, completing the law course this year. Popular with the team and the students, he is expected to make a great Alabama leader.

STREIT OR CATON MAY HEAD AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., December 2—(Special.) Auburn will elect her football leader for the season of 1911 at a meeting of the football team, which will be held Saturday.

Though nothing definite can be gleaned as to who the leader will be, indications point to the election of either Center Caton or Full Back Streit, either one of which will make Auburn a most creditable leader.

ALBANY ORGANIZES HER BASEBALL CLUB

New Sally League Entrant Primed for Start of Season.

Albany, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) The Albany baseball team which will hold up Albany's end of the line in the South Atlantic League during the season of 1911 will be under the direction of the Albany Baseball Association, that being the name selected for the corporation which was formally organized yesterday afternoon.

The money which will be required to put the team through the season has been secured. When preliminary organization was effected several weeks ago the minimum sum to be raised was fixed at $7,500. It was desired to raise several thousand dollars more, and this will be done. The canvass for stock has been fully as successful as was hoped for, the business men of the city coming forward with liberal subscriptions. The canvass will be continued for several days longer, but the amount already secured is sufficient to make certain the success of the enterprise.

It is probable that announcement will be made in a few days of the selection of a playing manager. A number of available men have been offered for the place, but the list now being considered has dwindled down to half a dozen. Several of the men who will play with the team are also known.

Albany will have one of the best baseball parks in the South Atlantic circuit. It is already in good condition and extensive improvements, including the enlargement of the grandstand and beachers, will be made before the practice season opens.

Albany expects to put a winning team in the field.

DAZED YOUNG GIRL TELLS WHO SHE IS

After four days of absolute silence concerning herself, her people or her home, the young woman who presented herself to the Associated Charities several days ago in a dazed condition, has finally informed the hospital authorities that her home is in Cullasaja, N. C.

She also gave herself two names, Virginia Wilde and Victoria Arnail. The first seemed almost certainly not her own name, and nearly a half day was spent before the girl finally said that her real name is Victoria Arnail, and that she lives at Cullasaja, N. C.

Although they were inclined to think that perhaps this, too, was inaccurate information, the association has dispatched letters to the address given and are awaiting a reply. In the meantime the girl is being well cared for at one of the infirmaries.

Dr. W. B. Summerall, of the Grady hospital, says that the stranger is suffering from neurasthenia, probably brought about by former pain and trouble. The disease is akin to melancholia, which would account for the girl's strange carelessness about living.

According to her own statements, given by Dr. Summerall, the girl has wandered in many places, as far west as Colorado, and in many of the eastern cities. She says that she was treated at the hospital in St. Louis, but, though her condition is one that might be bettered under favorable circumstances, her case was very serious before she underwent medical treatment, which bettered her nervous state.

She is young; about 25 years old, handsome and vital looking. Her eyes are blue and her hair is a dark, soft brown. Further information was not obtainable from her, and the answer to the letter is being waited for with much interest.

TECH ELECTS CAPTAIN TODAY

At Meeting of Team—It Looks Like Patterson.

The Tech Yellow Jackets will hold a meeting today to elect the football captain for the season of 1911. At the same time the team photo will be taken.

Tackle H. W. Patterson, who has been chosen on some of the All-Southern picks as a tackle, seems to be the logical man for the place. Every one seems to be a unit in declaring that he will be the man elected.

If he is, the Jackets could not name a better leader. A powerful man, physically, with a splendid football knowledge, gained by experience and natural ability, with the instinct of a fighter who fights harder when behind than when ahead, Patterson should make the Jackets an ideal captain.

Next season will be his last at school, and the honor of leading his team would no doubt be bestowed on him for this reason alone, but he has all the qualities of a good leader and fine football player withal.

ZELLARS HEADS MERCER ELEVEN

Macon, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) At a meeting of the football team today Jake T. Zellars, of Lincolnton, was elected captain of the 1911 team. This did not come as a surprise, as Zellars is very popular among the members of the team and students.

He is the plucky quarter that has meant so much for the success of this year's team. Zellars has played two years on the team, made four touchdowns this fall and played all of every game. He is a member of the junior class, 19 years old, 5 feet 10 inches high, weigh 140 pounds.

Miss Harris, Suwanee.

Suwanee, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) Miss Ora Harris, aged 40, daughter of the late Judge A. G. Harris, who has been postmistress at this place the past twenty years, died here last night of nervous prostration. Interment took place at the cemetery here, the funeral service being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cantrell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, in a very impressive manner. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Jane Harris; C. M. Harris, a brother, of Buford; J. W. Harris, brother, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and one sister, Miss Georgia, and a host of friends and other relatives, who greatly admired her noble character in many respects.

HALF BACK MYERS HEADS SEWANEE

No Opposition When He Was Nominated for the Place.

Sewanee, Tenn., December 2.—(Special.)—Johnny Myers, half back on the Tiger team through the past three years, was unanimously chosen to lead the Purple array next fall. There was no opposition and it is the general opinion here that Myers will make a first-class leader in every way. Just the material he will have to lead is another question. Lanier, Faulkenberry, Juhan and Gillespie are sure to leave, and it is probable that Chigger Browne will be unable to play. Those who will return include Captain-elect Myers, Full Back Ward, End Gillem, Tackle McCallum, Guards Gaior and Stoney—six veterans, all told, with some likely prospects from the prep material coming in next fal.

The loss of Lanier and possibly Browne will, of course, be the hardest blow, as these two were among the greatest that ever played the game in the south. Faulkenberry and Juhan will also be sorely missed from ranks —this quartet being the mainstay of the eleven all the fall.

After the meeting which elected Myers captain, the team presented Coaches Cope and Phillips with Captain Lanier sets of gold cuff buttons for their work through the past campaign. It is not known to a certainty whether or not Coaches Cope and Phillips will return, but every pressure will be exerted to get this highly efficient and popular pair of instructors back to take charge of the 1911 squad.

She is survived by her husband and three children; her mother, Mrs. E. G. Dunlap, and two brothers, J. V. Dunlap, of Atlanta, and B. S. Dunlap, of Cordele. The funeral will be held at Barclay & Brandon's chapel this morning at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be in West View.

J. G. Cocroft, Thomasville.

Thomasville, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—The funeral of J. G. Cocroft, who died here on Wednesday night, took place this (Friday) morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. L. T. Mays, of the Baptist church. Mr. Cocroft had been ill with fever for two weeks, but it was not generally known that his condition was dangerous, and his death was a surprise to many people. He was one of Thomasville's well-known citizens and business men. He was about 31 years old, and came to Thomasville several years ago from Morgan county. Besides his wife and four small children, Mr. Cocroft leaves two brothers, Messrs. C. C. and B. H. Cocroft, residents of this city, and several other brothers and sisters in north Georgia.

W. N. Maddox, Whitesville.

West Point, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—W. Notley Maddox, one of Harris county's largest landowners and planter, died of heart disease at his home near Whitesville, Ga. Mr. Maddox was noted for holding several hundred bales of cotton from each year's crop, and selling in July and August, usually at the highest price. He was also a large holder of real estate near Cordele, Ga. He is survived by a wife, one daughter, two sisters, Miss Permelia Maddox and Mrs. Amos Smith, of Hamilton, Ga., and one brother, Shade Maddox, of Pell City, Ala. His remains will be interred in the family burial grounds at Whitesville, Ga. wih Masonic honors tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

FLAMES CLAIM TWO AUTOS, GARAGE AND VACUUM CLEANER

What was left of garage, two autos and vacuum cleaner when flames were out.

The garage of J. P. Matthews, an automobile dealer with an office at 405 Gould building, located in the rear of his residence at 184 Capitol avenue, burned late Thursday night, causing the total destruction of two automobiles and a vacuum house-cleaning apparatus. The loss is estimated at $6,500, $5,000 insurance.

Patrolman Bone, walking his beat along Capitol avenue, discovered the fire shortly past 11 o'clock, and turned in an alarm, but by the time the firemen arrived, the flames had gained such headway as to make it impossible for them to save anything.

It is not known how the fire originated. The department made a second run to the scene shortly before 4 o'clock Friday morning when smouldering sparks flared up into a blaze.

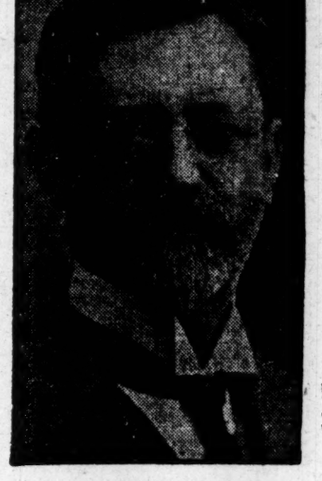

The automobiles were fine machines, one being a Pennsylvania, and the other a Ryder-Lewis. The vacuum house-cleaning apparatus, operated by a gasoline engine, had been used to clean the capitol and anumber of public buildings in the city.

DISEASES OF MEN

If I have some decided and original views on these diseases it is because I have been continuously in the work for 33 years, and for 25 years have devoted my whole time to these different and delicate cases.
I believe that many cases of stricture may be cured with less harsh treatment that they often receive. I believe this because I have demonstrated it again and again.
I believe that Syphilis needs not only the proper remedies, but careful, intelligent methods and attention to detail in order to cure and cure permanently.
I believe that Chronic Gnorrhoea causes more physical wrecks than any other disease. I believe this because I know. I believe that nothing needs more scientific methods in order to cure, and the man who suffers from it knows, too, that I am right.
I believe in straightforward advertising and honest business methods, combined with conscientious treatment and if you are in need of advice, and will appreciate that kind of service. I will take pleasure in examining you free of charge.

MRS. FISKE AS "BECKY SHARP" DELIGHTED BIG AUDIENCE

The game of chance that life was to "Becky Sharp," Minnie Madden Fiske makes a reality, and a reality as full of charm, of thrills, of mirth, and of excitement as Becky found it. Thackeray, if he had known Mrs. Fiske, would have made his heroine older, but even such a hypothesis seems hypercritical.

The great American artist played at the Orpheum last night before a large and representative audience, and she centered their undeviating attention through what they afterwards found was a long performance. She did not arouse them to any great moments of demonstrative enthusiasm. The play gives no occasion for it. Thackeray, even when he is dramatic, is usually quietly so. His forcefulness lies most often in its very restraint, and Landon Mitchell, who made the play, has been faithful in his portrayal of the spirit as well as the matter of "Vanity Fair."

There was only one great climax—the ending of the third act, when Rawdon Crawley comes upon his wife and Lord Steyne. And yet the fact of Thackeray's delineation of character purely through action is well proven by the strong play his great novel makes. Thackeray dealt much in reflection, but it was the actions of his men and women that told his story.

The play has been well constructed to show the evolution of Becky's fortunes. Not of Becky, for she was the same whatever game she played—dice or society or church-going. And Mrs. Fiske, in every period of the evolution, was the artist. Every role in her career has proclaimed her. Her support was excellent, but it was as hard for other people on the stage to receive their due meed of attention as it was for the other women in the story to hold their husbands' notice while Mrs. Crowley was in evidence.

According to Mrs. Fiske, Becky Sharp enjoyed her game, and the humor which for Becky saved every situation, even the most sordid, Mrs. Fiske shared with her audience, their quiet mirth a continual accompaniment to the reaviing of the unquenchable spirit of Becky.

Mrs. Fiske's lips are physically the type that defies eloquence. But eloquence lies in her every expressive feature, and must ray even from her finger tips. Ther was no sympathy for her tgaredies, but that was Becky's fault. They were such sordid tragedies. But in the worst of them, the third act climax, which is the ending of her fortunes, every soul in the audience was made to know what Becky's feelings must have been. She was not the kind to faint, but after the long strain and final tension, her physical strength gives away. She sat huddled on the floor, though, with dazed eyes, her house of cards around her, the artist's audience knew that the woman's mind was still scheming.

Nobody understood Becky except stupid Dobbin, and he only understood her wickedness. Her humor he was afraid of. Mrs. Fiske made her game rather transparent, but the exertion of dramatic exaggeration would explain it, and her audience, unlike Dobbin, could gloss over her weakness with her brilliance.

The production, artistic in detail as well as in cast, will be repeated this afternoon and tonight.

Clyde Fitch's "Girls."
(At the Grand.)

Girls with auburn hair, lassies with Titian locks, and some who even admitted the soft impeachment of real red hair, and it is a brave girl that will do that, had their innings at the Grand last night at the second performance of "Girls." That they enjoyed the show was evident from the applause which greeted the places where applause should come in, and from the half-smothered and yet audible rolls of laughter at all the bright sallies, in which Fitch was always such a master. Manager Perry, of the Grand, wanted to see how many red heads there were in Atlanta, and so he offered free admission to every girl, owning tresses of that kind, who was accompanied by escorts, with paid tickets.

"The Girl in the Taxi."
(At the Orpheum.)

Interest runs high in the announcement that "The Girl in the Taxi" will be seen at the Orpheum theater for an engagement of three nights, beginning Monday, December 12. This play has been a long time reaching this city owing to the great success which attended its production in Chicago and Boston, in which two cities it remained the reigning triumph as a laugh-producing entertainment for 30 solid weeks.

"The Spendthrift."
(At the Orpheum.)

No play in recent years has attracted the widespread interest in New York that has attended "The Spendthrift," Porter Emerson Browne's four-act drama, which will be seen at the Orpheum theater for one week, beginning Monday, December 19, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. The play deals with a timely subject of domestic extravagance and the high cost of living.

"Ben-Hur."
(At the Orpheum.)

Still the same stupendous scenic spectacle, rich in poetic color and dramatic in contrast, that it was when first hailed as an epoch-making revelation in stage craft, "Ben-Hur" comes to the Orpheum theater on Monday evening, December 5, for an engagement of one week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The firm hold that the Wallace play has on the public is most remarkable. Thrilling as the chariot race with horses running in the galleys, and full of warmth is the scene in the galleys, and full of warmth and witchery as are the scenes in the Grove of Daphne and by the moonlit lake, it is the scene on Mount Olivet with its multitude of singers waving palms in their adoration and raising joyous hosanna which is the most gripping of the entire production.

"The Midnight Sons."
(At the Grand.)

Lew Field's production of "The Midnight Sons," which enjoyed a run of nearly a year at the Broadway Theater, New York, is now on its first transcontinental tour and will be seen in this city in the immediate future. The company travels on its own special train of six cars and will be quite the most noticeable musical comedy event of the season. Seats on sale Wednesday.

WOULD CONSOLIDATE MERCER AND HOWARD

Columbus, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—Columbus will get into the game tomorrow morning with a suggestion, editorially and otherwise, as to the settlement of the Mercer college controversy.

Assuming the role of peacemaker between Atlanta and Macon, this city will suggest that Mercer college, at Macon, and Howard college, at Birmingham, the Baptist institution of Alabama, be consolidated into one great two-state Baptist university at Columbus, which is practically in the center of the Georgia-Alabama territory.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

LIQUIDATION CAUSED COTTON TO DECLINE

Heavy Selling on Account of a Bearish Private Crop Estimate---Spot Lower.

New York, December 2.—There was a sharp decline in the cotton market today, under scattering liquidation and bear pressure, inspired by a bearish private crop estimate, with the close barely steady at a net decline of 11@20 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points, in sympathy with disappointing cables and quickly weakened, owing to the fact that the crop estimate of a prominent local authority, which had been expected to prove bullish, placed the yield at 12,092,000 bales, exclusive of linters. With the market very nervous, owing to the close approach of the official estimates next week, liquidation gradually became heavier, and, in spite of support from bull leaders, prices eased off until stop-loss orders were uncovered. There was a lot of buying just above 15c for May, checking the decline at a net loss of about 19@21 points, but last prices were only a point or two up from the lowest on the active positions. Spot interests were buyers during the early trading, but seemed to be giving the market little support on the break in the afternoon and it appeared that the crop estimate of over 12,000,000 bales had shaken confidence among outside lo gs.

Southern spot markets officially reported were unchanged to 3-16 lower. Numerous private advices were received by local firms from the south indicating an usually large percentage of the crop ginned to December 1, the figures given ranging from about 85 to 97 per cent in various sections.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 75,116 bales, against 87,672 last week and 28,030 last year. For the week 400,000, against 391,414 last week and 244,051 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 13,833 bales, against 3,453 last year, and at Houston 12,099 bales, against 4,363 last year.

Cotton spots closed quiet, 15 points decline; middling uplands 15.00; middling gulf 15.25; sales 9,400 bales.

Ne Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, December 2.—Cotton spot steady, 1-16c off; sales on the spot, 1,050 bales; to arrive, 1,900; low ordinary, 11¼, nominal; ordinary, 12 1-16, nominal; good ordinary, 13½; strict good ordinary, 13⅞; low middling, 14 3-16; strict low middling, 14 7-16; middling, 14 11-16; strict middling, 14 13-16; good middling, 14 15-16; strict good middling, 15⅛; middling fair, 15⅜; middling fair to fair, 15¾; fair, 16; nominal; receipts, 13,833; stock, 186,247.

Cotton futures opened barely steady at a loss of 5 to 9 points. Cables were favorable, but a crop estimate of 12,092,000 bales from a well-known private crop-reporting bureau was considered very bearish and bad in effect on values, as soon as trading commenced. After the call, selling increased, especially from liquidating longs, but the market was steadied by purchases of ring scalpers, who were realizing on short sales. At the end of the first half hour of business, two more active months were ten points under yesterday's close.

The market had an easy undertone all the morning. The vpriate bureau estimate was the chief topic of conversation on the floor of the exchange and caused all the selling, although those who analyzed it were forced to the conclusion that it pointed to a ginning of only 80 per cent of the crop on November 30, something that even the bears have not been claiming. Prices fell off until they were at noon 15 to 22 points under yesterday's close. Commission houses said that the outside long account had suffered much liquidation.

Liquidation of the long interest continued in the afternoon session and at 2 o'clock the trading months, 19 to 22 points under yesterday's close.

The market closed steady, at a net decline of 18 to 21 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, December 2.—The cotton goods market holds steady with a light business passing. Yarns are quiet and generally firm. Later sales of carpet wools were made during the last week.

REACTION IN STOCKS; LOSSES IN THE LIST

General Trend of Conditions Seems to Have Discouraged the Traders.

New York, December 2.—The reactionary movement with which the week in the stock market began was continued today, material losses being registered throughout the list. Sentiment has apparently taken a very pessimistic turn and evidence was forthcoming to account for today's setback. It seems clear that the market had long depended for sustenance on the operations of professional traders, many of whom have now grown discouraged at the general trend of conditions.

Rumors were current today that the pool which is commonly supposed to have engineered the recent upward movement had dissolved, leaving a large part of its holdings, estimated into the hundreds of thousands of shares, unsold.

As an offset to adverse factors rumors were current in the financial district that nothing in the way of radical legislation will be attempted during the short session of congress. Advices from various centers of activity were of negative character when not denoting an arrested movement. Following the announcement of the suspension of an old-established cotton house came the news today that a prominent local importing firm had found it necessary to ask an extension of its credits.

The comptroller of the currency submitted another batch of statements of condition of national banks as of November 10 last. Not a few of these institutions reported a further expansion of loans and discounts instead of the hoped for contraction. The percentages of reserves in a few instances were up to 18 points, and in many instances much lower. Estimates of the cash loss for the week for the local banks are from $7,000,000 to $8,500,000, with the loan account an uncertain quantity.

Recovery was made in the stock market during the final hour and some fractional gains were shown, but this was due, in a measure, to short covering. London's operations here were moderately extensive for both accounts, the balance probably representing purchases or about 10,000 shares. European markets were firm, with strength in the better grade securities. The Imperial Bank of Germany reported a cash loss of more than $17,500,000, a loan increase of $8,500,000 and a loss in gold of almost $11,000,000.

The bond market was heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,709,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, December 2.—Cables this morning were about on a parity and our market opened with small business around last night's closing levels. Immediately after the opening there appeared a private estimate of the crop which had been expected and which it was anticipated would be bullish. To the surprise of the trade, the figures were 12,092,000 (without linters), and as this estimate usually carries some weight, especially in Wall street circles, an immediate selling movement set in which carried prices off slowly some 20 points. The leading long interests afforded good support on the decline. There was a fair trade demand and not much scattered liquidation, so that the market slowly recovered a portion of this loss during midday. The weekly figures, however, were distinctly bearish, both as the movement and spinners' takings, with the result that the market slowly sold off, closing at around the low prices of the day.

While we do not feel that the day's happenings are of any permanent significance except for the weekly figures, which showed a heavy movement again, there is likely to be a check to the bull movement prior to the government estimates next week. The cotton trade itself is inclined to do little before these estimates are published, but outside interests in the market manifested some uneasiness today, so that we should expect less buying outside the cotton trade prior to the reports.

WHEAT CLOSED HEAVY AT LOWEST OF THE DAY

Prices Three-Quarters to Seven-Eighths Under the Previous Close---Corn Lower.

Chicago, December 2.—Wall street weakness caused depression here today in the wheat market. The close was heavy at the lowest prices of the session, ¾ to ¾@⅞ under last night's figures. In corn the finish was ⅛@¼ to ½@⅝, oats ⅛@¼ lower to ⅛ higher, provisions varying from 5c gain to 10@12½c decline.

Conditions in the stock market led to unexpected setbacks in wheat when other news was strong and large shorts were covering. The argument was that the downward course of securities affected business in other directions and that it was no time to bull anything. Simultaneously reports were current that the water situation for Minneapolis flour mills was serious and would become more so with the advent of colder weather, many plants being obliged to shut down, perhaps. Selling due to New York and Minneapolis reports, was accelerated by denials that the outlook for Oklahoma wheat was as bullish as had been represented. Earlier in the day an authoritative estimate had been received raising the Argentine export surplus to 112,000,000 bushels. The effect of the news from South America, however, had been overcome later by domestic crop news as to other states than Oklahoma, and by the letting up of shipments from Russia. Hopes of an advance, though disappeared as the market succumbed to the influence of Wall street. The day's range for May was from 96⅝ to 97⅜, with the close ¾@⅞ off at the lower level.

Corn, affected by wheat, fell back somewhat from an advance, due to scarcity of sales from the country. Shorts covered freely and some of the big houses bought on the bulge. May fluctuated between 47½@47⅝ and 48⅛@48¼, closing easy at 47⅞, a net gain of ¼.

Cash corn was rm. No. 2 yellow finished at 52@52½ and the new crop at 50½.

Notwithstanding active buying of oats during the greater part of the day, the market finally yielded under sales by some of the largest cash and elevator houses. May ranged from 34½ to 34⅞, and closed ⅛ up at 34½@34⅝.

Selling, attributed to packers, forced provisions to share in the general late reaction of other staples. Previously good investment demand vanished. At the end of the day, pork was 10@12½ off to 5c up, lard down 2½ to 7½@10, and ribs unchanged to 5c decline.

ON BOULEVARD TERRACE, just a step from North Boulevard cars, a strictly high-class two-story, 8-room home. The lot is small, but has alleys on side and rear, thereby insuring elbow room without expense of buying it. This is the very best built house, at the price, that we have ever had for sale. It was built for a home; extreme care in workmanship and in the selection of material was exercised by the owner, as well as splendid taste being shown in the mantels, fixtures, tinting and decorations. The mantels, fixtures and plumbing are exceptionally handsome and expensive. The floors are hardwood and beautifully polished. The house stands on a Stone Mountain granite foundation, and is very attractive outside as well as inside; $6,500 will buy this place, on terms of $1,000 cash, assume the payment of a loan of $2,750, balance monthly or to suit. WILL ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENTS

Of South Georgia Conference This Morning.

Bainbridge Is Designated as the Next Meeting Place of the Conference — Interesting Reports Heard at Friday's Sessions.

Columbus, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—"Did a Methodist delegate say that?" asked Bishop Morrison, when R. J. Guinn, of Atlanta, caused to be read before the South Georgia Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, a newspaper dispatch from Chicago, in which it was stated that at a National Methodist conference there to discuss the extension of the social feature of church work, a delegate had declared that the Methodist church should raise its ban on theaters and Sunday baseball.

The bishop continued: "Just remember that he was only one person in that gathering. And remember, too, that there have been godless men in the church since the days of Judas Iscariot."

Rev. W. H. Budd, of Brunswick, conducted the devotional exercises at the opening of today's session of the conference.

A resolution requesting the Alabama conference to restore the credentials of Rev. Royal F. Dennis, of Poulan, was unanimously adopted. Rev. Dennis has been on trial in the traveling connection o fthis conference for the past two years, in which capacity he has rendered most acceptable service.

The report of the committee on The Wesleyan Christian Advocate was read and adopted. The claims of this excellent church organ were ably presented by Rev. E. H. McGehee, of Montezuma; Dr. W. C. Lovett, of Atlanta; Rev. J. M. Glenn, of Tifton; Dr. Bascom Anthony, of Columbus; Dr. T. D. Ellis, of Savannah; Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, of Macon; Rev. W. H. Budd, of Brunswick, nd Dr. H. M. Williams, of Thomasville. A pledge to increase the subscription list of this paper was made by the conference

A resolution providing that no addition to the delegates, who shall be elected by the church conferences the recording stewards be ex-oficio members of the district conference, was adopted.

Professor J. W. Gilbert, who is an intelligent negro preacher, representing Paine college, of Augusta, made an interesting address before the conference body. Professor Gilbert directed attention to the fact that no negro who was a member of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church has ever been convicted of the nameless crime. He said also that only one graduate of Paine college had ever been convicted of crime, and this graduate, as was proven in court, had stolen money at the instance of a white man. A collection was taken for that institution.

The Methodist Review, published at Nashville, Tenn., was represented by Dr. J. P. McFerrin, of Dawson.

Address by Rev. R. J. Guinn.

Hon. R. J. Guinn, of Atlanta, made a stirring address in behalf of the work of the Wesley Memorial Enterprises in that city. He called attention to the fact that of the $200,000 which was raise dfor these noble enterprises one Sunday in Atlanta as the inception of the movement, $40,000 was raised by Bishop Morrison.

Dr. Bascom Anthony and Rev. A. A. Morgan were elected trustees of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate.

Bainbridge Selected

Bainbridge was uanimously chosen as the place where the next session of the conference will be held Bainbridge has requested six years in succession, that it be allowed the privilege of entertaining this conference

The name of Rev. E. C. Willis, who was injured some months ago while assisting in the work o ferecting a parsonage, was referred to the committee on conference relations for superannuation.

The name of Homer Bush, formerly pastor of McRae, but now located in Atlanta, was dropped from the conference roll of membership. Rev. Mr. Bush desires to enter some field of work other than the ministry, and for this reason tendered to the conference a certificate of surrender of credentials. He is well known as a teacher and preacher both in Georgia and Florida.

The pastors from the Dublin, Valdosta and McRae districts made their reports today, which completed the call of the districts and the work of the conference is well in hand for the redding of the appointments early Monday morning.

As five presiding elders will be removed by the staute of limitation from their respective districts and returned to the pastorate, there is no little surmising as to where they will be stationed next year and as to who will succeed them on the districts. These presiding elders are as follows: Rev. O. F. Cook, of the Macon district; Rev. K. Read, of the Cordele district; Rev. J. B. Johnstone, of the Americus district; Dr. A. M. Williams, of the Thomasville district, and Rev. E. F. Morgan, of the McRae district, but such is mere surmise, for this conference is not given to what is commonly known as "cabinet leaking." Rev. R. E. Bailey, of Ellaville, read the appointments of the joint board of finance.

Dr. E. B. Chappell lectured again this afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Luke's, which completed his series of four vesper lectures. Rev. J. A. Thomas, of Thomasville, preached tonight at 7:30 o'clock to an appreciative congregation.

Rev. Osgood F. Cook, presiding elder of the Macon district, is closing a most successful quadrennium on that district. There have been 902 accessions to the church within the bounds of that district during the year, and $22,000 raised this year for home and foreign missions. The Macon district supports eighteen special missionaries, or rather these missionaries are supported by churches, Sunday schools and Epworth Leagues within the bounds of the district. This is the fourth year in succession that every charge in the Macon district has had credit in full for its pastors' salary and all the benevolent collections. Such a record as Rev. Mr. Cook has made in this particular is very rarely ever equaled. A district parsonage, located at Macon, has just been completed. By his own preference Rev. Mr. Cook will be returned at this conference to the work of the pastorate.

Dr. A. M. Williams has, also, just closed a successful quadrennium on the Thomasville district, during which period Methodism has made rapid strides in that district, there having a large increase in membership, a number of churches and parsonages having been erected and gratifying progress along all lines of church endeavor having been made.

Rev. Whittey Langston, presiding elder of the Waycross district, makes an excellent report to this conference. There have been 900 accessions to the church on profession of faith within the bounds of his district this year. Nine churches have been organized and fourteen church edifices are in course of construction.

The current conference year has marked advance in the Dublin district, of which Rev. L. J. Ballard is the presiding elder. There have been 900 accessions to that church, 210 infants baptised, thirteen churches organized and seven churches erected.

Methodism has gone forward this year in the Savannah, Columbus, Cordele, Americus, Valdosta and McRae districts, as is indicated by the presiding elders' and pastors' reports.

Bishop Morrison created a ripple of laughter when Rev. W. F. Smith, the efficient secretary of the conference, said: "Bishop, I wish to be certain to have my journal correct for the general conference;" whereupon the bishop replied: "Yes, you had better be careful about the general conference"—and maybe the bishop knows whereof he speaks.

While other churches and conferences have had in recent years quite a dearth of ministers; in fact, some of them have been greatly hampered in the prosecution of their church enterprise, the South Georgia conference has received a sufficient number of young ministers to meet and man the situation of the marvelous progress of Methodism in south Georgia.

Dr. Bascom Anthony, the host of the conference, is nothing if not thoroughly unique. He has told his organist at St. Luke's to lock the handsome pipe organ and to hide the key during the conference session, as they would have only congregational singing. He said: "Brethren, I have told my people that we preachers can beat the negroes singing, and during this conference I want us to make good"—and they are making good (music).

Sparks Collegiate Institute.

Rev. A. W. Rees, president of Sparks Collegiate Institute, makes report to the conference as follows:

"This school, located in Berrien county, is of peculiar importance. Here is a part of the richest section of Georgia and the population is rapidly increasing. Other institutions are better equipped, competition is sharp and we must have equipment or leave the field to others. Here is Methodism's opportunity in south Georgia. Not to meet it now would be suicidal. We ought to have 1,000 of the bright minds of this section in Sparks Collegiate institute. The enrolment is 290 of the best boys and girls of Georgia. More than 150 of these are boarding pupils. Our faculty is composed of twelve consecrated men and women coming from some of the leading colleges of the south. They have been faithful and successful in their work here.

"The present capacity of the school is just half enough to meet the present demands. It is our plan to build a large dormitory for girls. This is to be a memorial to that matchless man now in heaven, Charles C. Elliott. We call upon his friends to give us $25,000 for this purpose. We want to give every worthy boy and girl a chance and to build wisely for Methodism and God's kingdom not only now, but in years to come."

CLAIM THAT YANCEY WAS ASSASSINATED

Reported at First That Former Rome Man Was Killed in Duel.

Rome, Ga., December 2.—(Special.) The Rome Tribune-Herald publishes a story of the death of Robert Yancey, who was at first reported killed in a duel in Florida, in which it was said that he was sent to his grave by the shot of an assassin fired from behind, and without giving the dead man a single chance for his life in open combat.

The reasons for this belief are told by Ben C. Yancey brother of the dead man.

He said:

"I am firmly convinced that Robert was shot down as the result of a conspiracy and given no chance for his life.

"To begin with, there had been business differences between Robert and Zach Spinks ever since the former bought a brick plant from the latter, last March. Robert found that Spinks had used a false inventory and false set of books in selling the plant.

"This was the beginning of their differences, and they continued to grow worse as time went on.

"Friday morning he received a telephone message from a man who said his name was J. L. Wiley, and that he wanted Robert to drive out to the plant and quote him prices on some brick.

"Robert had never seen or heard of Wiley before that morning. Now, why should a man who, I am told, is an ex-convict, hunt up the owner of a plant and take him for a 6-mile drive to his plant, on a transaction involving only 200 brick, unless there was something behind it? I also learned that just before the time Robert left Leesburg to drive to his plant, Spinks spent nearly an hour in the commissary of this place, behind closed doors, four miles from town, and then come out and got in his automobile with his gun.

"That is all we know of the matter up to the time Robert walked in the drug store at Leesburg, to have his wounds treated. When he came there he could not speak, but walked almost without assistance.

"As he entered the drug store Spinks, who had reached town first in his automobile, was at the fountain drinking soda. As Robert passed he laughed and said, 'Well, boys, there is what I left of him,' and finished his glass.

"Robert could not speak, but he called for a pad and pencil. To show you that he had not lost his nerve and courage, the first thing he wrote was, 'He was an awfully bum shot, wasn't he?' Doctors were summoned, and he wrote another note, saying, 'He shot me from behind; I did not see him at the time.'"

made a big success in New York. He gave Atlanta the zebra which is now one of the principal attractions at the Grant park zoo.

When a young man he came to Atlanta as a telegraph operator, staying here for a short time. He then went to New York, where he was offered a position in a broker's office. He accepted and soon became known as a young man of great ability. Especially attracted to him was A. O. Brown, an extensive and daring operator on the New York Stock Exchange, who finally offered him a partnership in the firm of A. O. Brown & Co., brokers. He accepted and became manager of the firm, which position he held until that firm failed.

After his first apopletic stroke he returned to Norcross, where it was thought the climate would aid his recovery. This proved to be true, and feeling that he was entirely recovered, he accepted the place of local commercial agent with the Western Union in this city about two weeks ago.

Mr. Buchanan is noted for his kind heart and philanthropy. In Norcross he voluntarily builta power plant and waterworks, giving the power to the city at actual cost.

ONLY TWO CASES LEFT ON CRIMINAL DOCKET

This session of the superior criminal court, which was adjourned yesterday until the second week in January, closed with the remarkable record of only two cases remaining on the docket, and these were not tried for providential causes. One had to be postponed because the main witness in the case had been shot in the mouth and couldn't talk and the other was postponed for unavoidable reasons. Over 200 cases have been tried.

Government Sues W. & A.

Charging infringement of the act providing for safety couplings on cars engaged in interstate commerce, the government yesterday filed suit for $100 damages against the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company.

Verdict Against Dean.

Bailiff J. W. Dean, of Justice R. R. Jackson's court, was the defendant in a suit tried yesterday in the superior court, in which W. H. Vetter petitioned for $500 damages for alleged false arrest by Dean. The jury returned a verdict in favor of Vetter granting him $350.

Another case against Dean was tried Thursday in the superior criminal court, extortion being charged, but the bailiff was acquitted. Morris Macks and T. B. Brown were Dean's attorneys.

Henry Cohen, a Jew, accused of killing a negro named Ed Moore, was acquitted of involuntary manslaughter Friday in the criminal superior court.

More Proof.

In our day the election of senators by the state legislatures works very badly. The defeat of Beveridge is another piece of evidence. He was the victim of a clumsy system. If the people of Indiana could vote directly on the issue, they would send him back to Washington

Opinions

SOME STRONG FRIENDS OF THE ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK have claimed that the increasing popularity of this old established institution is due to the unvarying conservatism with which all their business is transacted; others declare that it is due to the careful, courteous treatment accorded each patron; still others insist that the location of the bank is so generally convenient. But the real truth of the development and increasing popularity of this bank is due to the perfect combination of all these features, which insures for each depositor the very best banking service it is possible to obtain.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED.

What Commercial Agencies Say About Business.

New York, November 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say that business, while not as large as was anticipated a year ago, is, nevertheless, of fair proportions and rests upon a basis of economic conditions, which, in the main, are satisfactory. The encouraging features are the unabated agricultural productiveness of the country, the absence of demoralizing speculation, the lowness of mercantile stocks which contribute so largely to the soundness of the situation, the conservatism of the banks as the guardians of the country's credit and the signs of increasing relaxation in the money market. A noteworthy development of the week was the decision of the steel manufacturers to maintain prices, and although new business is much below productive capacity, yet there is an encouraging outlook for improvement and the Pennsylvania railroad's large order for rails is a hopeful sign. Large shipments of dry goods for spring distribution is another encouraging indication and the outlook in the shoe trade is described as brighter.

Reports from most of the large cities, while not disguising the fact that the volume of transactions is below normal, indicate improvement and a generally hopeful feeling.

Prices in the dry goods market are generally steady and there is belief in some quarters that higher increased values will be forced by the high cost of raw material. There has been some selling of denims and colored cottons as well as more trading in print cloth yarn goods and convertibles. Ginghams continue strong. Some small business with China was consummated during the week in cotton goods, but other export trade is quiet, although shipments on old orders are very fair. Silk mills have a very good business booked. Yarn markets rule quiet.

In the shoe trade, wholesalers throughout the country are more actively engaged and in consequence are placing larger orders with the New England manufacturers. Salesmen on the road are also doing more business with retailers. Some labor troubles have developed in different shoe manufacturing centers, but these are not of a serious nature. Trade in leather continues quiet with considerably more business effected in sole than in upper stock on account of the fact that cloth and other materials than leather are still being substituted to a large extent in the uppers of woman's shoes.

Harness and belting leather is in moderate request, but trade in glazed kid is dull.

Wool.

St. Louis, December 2.—Wool unchanged: medium grades, combing and clothing, 23½@24; light fine 20@22; heavy fine 15@17; tub-washed 20@33.

London, December 2.—The wool sales were continued today with offerings of 13,419 bales. The continent bought scoured merinos and medium greasy eagerly and the home trade took the bulk of the crossbreds. All grades were firm, except beavies. The sales follow:

New South Wales, 3,40 bales; scoured, 10d@1s 10d; greasy, 6d@1s 26d.

Queensland, 2,700 bales; scoured, 1s 3d@2s ½d; greasy, 7¼d@1s 1d.

Victoria, 1,200 bales; scoured, 1s@2s¾d; greasy, 8d@1s5½d.

South Australia, 700 bales; greasy, 7d@1s ½d.

West Australia, 2,900 bales; greasy, 5d@1s.

New Zealand, 1,800 bales; scoured, 7d@1s 8d; greasy, 7½@11½d.

Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 700 bales; scoured, 1s 8d@1s 11d; greasy, 6¼d@11½d.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, December 2.—It has been thrust and party in the speculative markets, but on the whole bears have latterly had the advantage, owing to a marked increase in the receipts of cotton at the ports and interior towns, a local crop estimate of 12,092,000 bales exclusive of linters, depression in Wall street and narrowness of the speculation in cotton. Liverpool, too, has suddenly become dull. Some embarrassment in the dry goods trade at home and abroad have been reported and December notices have amounted to anywhere from 110,000 to 120,000 bales, something which has puzzled independent observers who do not understand why the cotton should be thrown on the market now if the price is going up. The hedge selling by the south has been steady and spot interests have sold the near months.

Fall River's sales of print cloths have been small. The outside public shows no great disposition to take hold of cotton, nor is it generally expected to do so until the market has shown its ability to advance sharply and firmly and maintain the rise. Friday's surprise in regard to the big local crop estimate undoubtedly had a more or less demoralizing effect.

Some experienced and successful people in the trade insist that the crop is small and that the prospective consumption is large, so large indeed, as to presage a scramble for cotton among the spinners later on and an inevitable rise of prices to a much higher level than has yet been attained this season. Manchester is doing a brisk business at prices showing a distinct upward tendency.

It is insisted that there is a brisk demand for spot cotton at the south and that prices there are generally firm. Retail trade in dry goods throughout the country is reported good, favored by seasonable weather. Some prominent business men combat the idea that 1911 is to be a rather poor year and take the ground that the way is being paved for better times. Speculation in cotton, it is urged, is only hanging fire, awaiting two important events next week, that is, the report on ginning on December 8 and the government estimate of the crop on December 9.

Coffee.

New York, December 2.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points on higher European cables, and ruled very firm during the day with all active positions making new high records on active covering and fresh buying, inspired by the strength of Brazilian markets and bullish private advices from Brazil, confirming small interior stocks and unfavorable new crop prospects. The market closed steady at a net advance of 15@23 points. Sales 86,750 bags.

Havre was ½@¾ higher; Hamburg, ½@¾ higher. Rio 225 reis higher at 7$500; Santos 100 reis higher, fours, 7$500; sevens, 7$500.

Brazilian exchange on London 1-32d lower at 16 9-32d. Receipts at the two Brazilian ports 44,000 bags, against 56,000 last year. Jundiahy receipts, 19,700 bags, against 31,600 last year. The world's visible supply statement showed a decrease of 52,144 bags for the month, comparing with an increase of 148,829 bags for the same month last year. The total visible as of November 1, was 14,741,976, against 17,554,624 last year.

Live Stock.

Washington, December 2.—Increased receipts at the seven leading interior cattle and sheep markets and a continued shortage in the supply of hogs are the important features of the October live stock market, as shown by reports to the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. The October receipts of cattle at those markets amounted to 1,188,324 head, exceeding the receipts for that month for the previous two years and greater by more than 400,000 than the monthly average for the present year. The receipts of sheep show a continuous growth since the end of summer, the October total of 2,263,079 being more than double the monthly average for the year, and 56 per cent greater than the October average for the past five years.

On the other hand, the receipts of hogs at the seven markets, slightly over 1,000,000, were the lowest monthly receipts for the year, except September. As compared with the October average for the past five years, this year's receipts show a decline of more than 26 per cent.

Stocks of meat at the five principal packing centers are a little more than 90,000,000 pounds, the smallest total reported for the year.

AN OFFICE BUILDING

One ideal form of investment is a steel frame office building—it is the ultimate in real estate.

Most of the corners you think of in connection with an office building run in price from $200,000 to $300,000.

The City Hall would be a good place for an 8 or 10-story building—it would appeal especially to lawyers, and would pay. The lot is 52 1-2x125, with alley way on the east line.

Be on hand when it is put up for sale next Monday.

"ATLANTA NEEDS BIG REVIVAL TO SAVE HER FROM BOW-WOWS"

---Dr. Broughton

Dr. Broughton has announced that he will speak Sunday night on Atlanta's need for a great union revival. He will attempt to show the methods now being used by other large cities to bring together the various denominations in one united effort to bring a spiritual and ethical uplift. In speaking of the revival Dr. Broughton said:

"As I see it, Atlanta stands in need of a great united effort to save it spiritually from going to the bow-wows. It is useless for any one single church or denomination to attempt to bring to pass anything that will approximate the needs of our city spiritually and we are going to try to get together in one, strong, united effort to reach not only the city itself, but all of our outlying suburbs. This will necessitate either a great awakening of our men who are laboring here at present, or the importation of men with marked evangelistic gifts from the outside.

"I believe this evangelistic effort should cover a period of not less than thirty days, and probably ninety days. By that time we could reach every section of our city and secure desired results in a great spiritual awakening. I shall have much to say on this line Sunday night. I trust something will be done to bring us together."

NEW ATLANTA-CHATTANOOGA LINE TO EMPLOY MOTOR-DRIVEN CARS

Rome, Ga., December 2.—(Special.)—Events leading to the physical connection of the Rome and Northern with the Chattanooga Southern and a subsequent connection of the combined roads with the Seaboard Air Line are moving rapidly. Indeed, it is expected that all of this will be accomplished and through trains via the new route running between Chattanooga and Atlanta by March 1 of 1912.

Railroad authorities make the interesting announcement that the cars will be motor-driven, instead of drawn by steam and an interurban service with frequent trains thus established.

Two important steps in the consummation of this plan were taken Thursday. They consisted in the filing of articles for incorporation of the Chattanooga and Atlanta Railroad Company and the filing of the trackage agreement between the Rome and Northern and the Chattanooga Southern. The Chattanooga and Atlanta Railroad Company is the corporation that will operate through trains between Atlanta and Chattanooga.

Its incorporators are capitalists of Chattanooga, including E. F. Blomeyer, who is general manager of the Chattanooga Southern. A. S. Hamilton, of Trion, is one of the incorporators.

The petition for charter sets forth the plans and purposes of the road. It proposes to use the tracks of the Chattanooga Southern to Trion, of the Rome and Northern to Rome, of an extension to be built between Rome and the Seaboard and of the latter road to Atlanta.

OVER MUSIC IN CHURCHES CHRISTIAN PASTORS DIFFER

Whether or not the New Testament authorized the use of instrumental music in the service of the church was the subject of an interesting series of five debates, which closed last night, between two of the local pastors of the Christian church, or Church of Christ. Rev. H. K. Pendleton, of the First Christian church, had the affirmative side of the question, while Rev. Samuel H. Hall, of the West Side and South Pryor Street Christian churches, took the position that such a use was not sanctioned by the Bible. The debates were merely for the information of the congregations, and no attempt was made to render a decision as to who had triumphed.

The debates were held in the South Pryor street church, near Vassar street, and were attended each night by a large audience, and the close attention was evidence of the interest of this denomination in a question that has been more or less of a bone of contention for several years in their midst. The side represented by Mr. Hall is said to be "unprogressive," not believing in the missionary movement, in instrumental music, and differing in various other ways from their brethren of the First church. The debate was held at the suggestion of a layman, who wished to hear the subject threshed out.

The proposition as stated by both sides was, "The New Testament teaches that the disciples of Christ have a right to use instrumental music in connection with their worship when assembled together for worship." Each side appointed a moderator, Robert Crenshaw, a local attorney, acting for the affirmative, and J. W. Shepherd, office editor of The Gospel Advocate, of Nashville, for the negative.

During the first four nights the general question was discussed and various points made. Much Biblical wealth was brought into play, with many illustrations from noted commentators, and the arguments showed the depth to which the two ministers had gone in their research on the matter. Last night the conclusion was reached, and the discussion grew very warm toward the end.

The question finally hinged on the meaning of the Greek words, psalo and psalmos. The first is the verb form, meaning to twang or to pluck. From it is derived the latter, which is the noun form, meaning a musical instrument or accompaniment. From this comes the English term psalm. The New Testament commands the use of psalms in the church worship, but whether this is merely a vocal chant, as Mr. Hall contends, or a song with accompaniment, according to Mr. Pendleton, is yet to be decided. The latter gentleman says that the instrument or accompaniment was a fundamental idea of the classical term, while the former says that this is connected with the term only by implication.

As there was no decision given, the debates being merely for instruction, no actual result is to be seen. The question will remain under discussion among the members of the church for some time, and the flock of Mr. Hall will continue to sing without the aid of an organ, while services at the First church, under Mr. Pendleton, will still make a feature of the instumental music.
